THE DUBLIN REVIEW

74th YEAR

WILFRID WARD . . . . Editor
B. W. DEVAS . . . . Sub-Editor

Issued Quarterly:

Yearly Subscription, Free by Mail, $5.00

—The Dublin Review, so often quoted and commended by us, is the oldest and unquestionably the ablest Catholic periodical in the English language. Indeed, its high standard of literary excellence and critical scholarship is probably unsurpassed by any periodical in the world. English-speaking Catholics may well feel proud of this review. Under the able editorship of Dr. Wilfrid Ward, whose program from the first has been guided by the desire to combine close attention to the intellectual and literary movements of the day, with absolute loyalty to the Church and the Holy See, the historic Dublin Review, as Newman called it, has begun a new era of prosperity and progress. Its circulation is increasing among English-speaking Catholics everywhere; and its influence on those outside the Church becoming more and more marked. It is almost a reproach to any club or reading room not to be provided with the Dublin.—Ave Maria.

THE MONTH

A CATHOLIC MAGAZINE

Edited by the Rev. JOHN GERARD, S. J.

Issued Monthly. Yearly subscription, free by mail, $3.00.

THE MONTH, which was established in 1864, deals primarily with subjects of current interest to the Catholic body, but also publishes articles of a more general character. It devotes particular attention to points of Catholic apologetic and to reviews of contemporary literature at home and abroad.

World wickedness and deluge.

GENESIS 7.

5 ¶ And GOD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually.

6 And it repented the LORD that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart.

7 And the LORD said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them.

8 But Noah found grace in the eyes of the LORD.

9 ¶ These are the generations of Noah: Noah was a just man and perfect in his generations, and Noah walked with God.

10 And Noah begat three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

11 The earth also was corrupt before God, and the earth was filled with violence.

12 And God looked upon the earth, and, behold, it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth.

13 And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them; and, behold, I will destroy them with the earth.

14 ¶ Make thee an ark of gopher wood; rooms shalt thou make in the ark, and shalt pitch it within and without with pitch.

15 And this is the fashion which thou shalt make it of: The length of the ark shall be three hundred cubits, the breadth of it fifty cubits, and the height of it thirty cubits.

16 A window shalt thou make to the ark, and in a cubit shalt thou finish it above; and the door of the ark shalt thou set in the side thereof; with lower, second, and third stories shalt thou make it.

17 And, behold, I, even I, do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, to destroy all flesh, wherein is the breath of life, from under heaven; and every thing that is in the earth shall die.

18 But with thee will I establish my covenant; and thou shalt come into the ark, thou, and thy sons, and thy wife, and thy sons' wives with thee.

19 And of every living thing of all flesh, two of every sort shalt thou bring into the ark, to keep them alive with thee; they shall be male and female.

20 Of fowls after their kind, and of cattle after their kind, of every creeping thing of the earth after his kind, two of every sort shall come unto thee, to keep them alive.

21 And take thou unto thee of all food that is eaten, and thou shalt gather it to thee; and it shall be for food for thee, and for them.

22 Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, so did he.

7] CHAPTER 7.

The general deluge.

AND the LORD said unto Noah, Come thou and all thy house into the ark; for thee have I seen righteous before me in this generation.

2 Of every clean beast thou shalt take to thee by sevens, the male and his female: and of beasts that are not clean by two, the male and his female.

3 Of fowls also of the air by sevens, the male and the female; to keep seed alive upon the face of all the earth.

4 For yet seven days, and I will cause it to rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights; and every living substance that I have made will I destroy from off the face of the earth.

5 And Noah did according unto all that the LORD commanded him.

6 And Noah was six hundred years old when the flood of waters was upon the earth.

7 ¶ And Noah went in, and his sons, and his wife, and his sons' wives with him, into the ark, because of the waters of the flood.

8 Of clean beasts, and of beasts that are not clean, and of fowls, and of every thing that creepeth upon the earth,

9 There went in two and two unto Noah into the ark, the male and the female, as God had commanded Noah.

10 And it came to pass after seven days, that the waters of the flood were upon the earth.

11 ¶ In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, the seventeenth day of the month, the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened.

12 And the rain was upon the earth forty days and forty nights.

13 In the selfsame day entered Noah, and Shem, and Ham, and Japheth, the sons of Noah, and Noah's wife, and the three wives of his sons with them, into the ark;

14 They, and every beast after his kind, and all the cattle after their kind, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind, and every fowl after his kind, every bird of every sort.

15 And they went in unto Noah into the ark, two and two of all flesh, wherein is the breath of life.

16 And they that went in, went in male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him: and the LORD shut him in.

17 And the flood was forty days upon the earth; and the waters increased, and bare up the ark, and it was lift up above the earth.

18 And the waters prevailed, and were increased greatly upon the earth; and the ark went upon the face of the waters.

Christ's sermon ST. MATTHEW, 5. in the mount

24 And his fame went throughout all Sȳr'ĭ-à: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatick, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes of people from Gāl'ĭ-lee, and from Dē-cāp'ō-lis, and from Jē-ru'sā-lēm, and from Jū-dæ'à, and from beyond Jōr'dan.

CHAPTER 5.

1 Beginning of the sermon in the mount. 14 The light of the world. 21 What it is to kill. 38 Exhortation to suffer wrong. 44 Love our enemies. 48 Labour to be perfect.

AND seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him:

2 And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,

3 Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

4 Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.

5 Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.

6 Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.

7 Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.

8 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

9 Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.

10 Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

11 Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.

12 Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.

13 ¶ Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.

14 Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid.

15 Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.

16 Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.

17 ¶ Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil.

18 For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.

19 Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

20 For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Phăr'ĭ-sees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.

21 ¶ Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment:

22 But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.

23 Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee;

24 Leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison.

26 Verily I say unto thee, Thou shalt by no means come out thence, till thou hast paid the uttermost farthing.

27 ¶ Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery:

28 But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.

29 And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

Generations of Terah. GENESIS, 12. God calleth Abram.

17 And Ē′bĕr lived after he begat Pē′leg four hundred and thirty years, and begat sons and daughters.
18 And Pē′leg lived thirty years, and begat Rē′u:
19 And Pē′leg lived after he begat Rē′u two hundred and nine years, and begat sons and daughters.
20 And Rē′u lived two and thirty years, and begat Sē′rug:
21 And Rē′u lived after he begat Sē′rug two hundred and seven years, and begat sons and daughters.
22 And Sē′rug lived thirty years, and begat Nā′hôr:
23 And Sē′rug lived after he begat Nā′hôr two hundred years, and begat sons and daughters.
24 And Nā′hôr lived nine and twenty years, and begat Tē′rah:
25 And Nā′hôr lived after he begat Tē′rah an hundred and nineteen years, and begat sons and daughters.
26 And Tē′rah lived seventy years, and begat Ā′brăm, Nā′hôr, and Hā′ran.
27 ¶ Now these are the generations of Tē′rah: Tē′rah begat Ā′brăm, Nā′hôr, and Hā′ran; and Hā′ran begat Lōt.
28 And Hā′ran died before his father Tē′rah in the land of his nativity, in Ûr of the Chăl′dees.
29 And Ā′brăm and Nā′hôr took them wives: the name of Ā′brăm's wife was Sā′rāi; and the name of Nā′hôr's wife, Mĭl′cah, the daughter of Hā′ran, the father of Mĭl′cah, and the father of Ĭs′cah.
30 But Sā′rāi was barren; she had no child.
31 And Tē′rah took Ā′brăm his son, and Lōt the son of Hā′ran his son's son, and Sā′rāi his daughter in law, his son Ā′brăm's wife; and they went forth with them from Ûr of the Chăl′dees, to go into the land of Cā′năan; and they came unto Hā′ran, and dwelt there.
32 And the days of Tē′rah were two hundred and five years: and Tē′rah died in Hā′ran.

CHAPTER 12.

1 God calleth Abram, and blesseth him with a promise of Christ: 4 he departs from Haran. 6 Canaan promised.

NOW the LORD had said unto Ā′brăm, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee:
2 And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing:
3 And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed.
4 So Ā′brăm departed, as the LORD had spoken unto him; and Lōt went with him: and Ā′brăm was seventy and five years old when he departed out of Hā′ran.
5 And Ā′brăm took Sā′rāi his wife, and Lōt his brother's son, and all their substance that they had gathered, and the souls that they had gotten in Hā′ran; and they went forth to go into the land of Cā′năan; and into the land of Cā′năan they came.
6 ¶ And Ā′brăm passed through the land unto the place of Sī′chem, unto the plain of Mō′reh. And the Cā′năan-īte was then in the land.
7 And the LORD appeared unto Ā′brăm, and said, Unto thy seed will I give this land: and there builded he an altar unto the LORD, who appeared unto him.
8 And he removed from thence unto a mountain on the east of Bĕth′-el, and pitched his tent, having Bĕth′-el on the west, and Hā′ī on the east: and there he builded an altar unto the LORD, and called upon the name of the LORD.
9 And Ā′brăm journeyed, going on still toward the south.
10 ¶ And there was a famine in the land: and Ā′brăm went down into Ē′gўpt to sojourn there; for the famine was grievous in the land.
11 And it came to pass, when he was come near to enter into Ē′gўpt, that he said unto Sā′rāi his wife, Behold now, I know that thou art a fair woman to look upon:
12 Therefore it shall come to pass, when the Ē-gўp′tians shall see thee, that they shall say, This is his wife: and they will kill me, but they will save thee alive.
13 Say, I pray thee, thou art my sister: that it may be well with me for thy sake; and my soul shall live because of thee.

ONE OF THE EIGHTY PHOTO-VIEWS

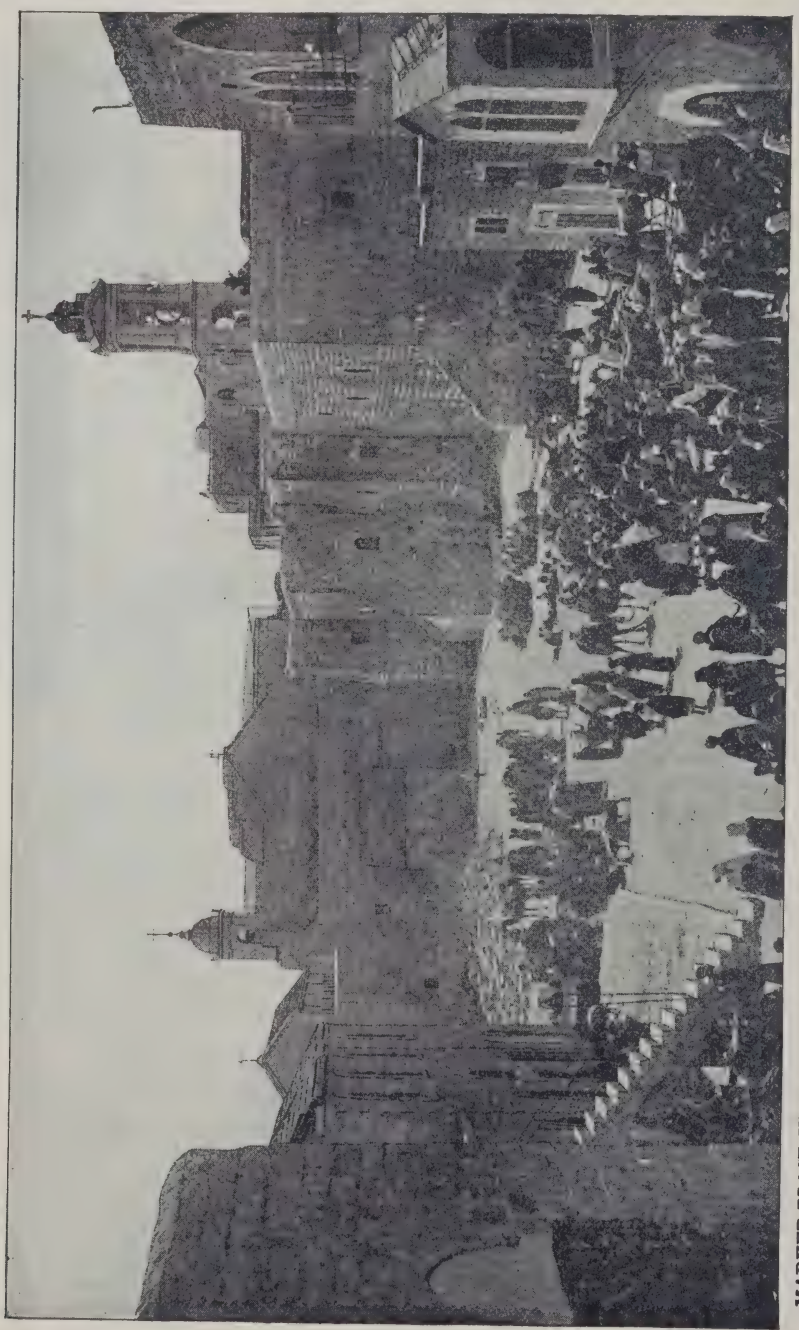
CONTAINED IN THE

PICTORIAL TEACHERS' BIBLES.

THE Photographs from which these Views were made were taken but recently, and they therefore give correct representations of the present appearances of places made memorable by the sacred and historic associations of Bible times.

Each View is followed by a clear yet concise description of the scene which it portrays. The series begins with Photo-Views of places that we read of in the book of Genesis, and proceeds to show in an orderly arrangement panoramas of various cities and localities in Bible lands as they come into prominence from time to time throughout the entire period covered by the Old and New Testament narrative.

EVERY PICTURE IS PRINTED ON COATED PAPER.



MARKET-PLACE IN BETHLEHEM.— Though anciently a small town, Bethlehem was none the less conspicuous in Hebrew history (Gen. xxxv. 19; Ruth i. 19; 1 Sam. xvii. 12). As the birthplace of Christ, and scene of the events connected therewith, it holds a place in Christian affection second only to that of the Holy City. It now has a population of about 5,000, composed mostly of Greek Christians, whose chief industry is the making of sacred souvenirs, which are sold to visitors. In its streets, architecture, and customs, one reads of a hoary past. In the fields around and in its busy market-place may still be heard the greeting and response of the days of Ruth (Ruth ii. 4).

ST. LUKE, 5.

13 And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

14 And he charged him to tell no man: but go, and shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, according as Mō'sēs commanded, for a testimony unto them.

15 But so much the more went there a fame abroad of him: and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by him of their infirmities.

16 ¶ And he withdrew himself into the wilderness, and prayed.

17 And it came to pass on a certain day, as he was teaching, that there were Phär'i-sees and doctors of the law sitting by, which were come out of every town of Gäl'i-lee, and Jū-dæ'a, and Jē-ru'sā-lēm: and the power of the Lord was present to heal them.

18 ¶ And, behold, men brought in a bed a man which was taken with a palsy: and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in because of the multitude, they went upon the house top, and let him down through the tiling with his couch into the midst before Jē'sus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee.

21 And the scribes and the Phar'i-sees began to reason, saying, Who is this which speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but God alone?

22 But when Jē'sus perceived their thoughts, he answering said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Rise up and walk?

24 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power upon earth to forgive sins, (he said unto the sick of the palsy,) I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy couch, and go into thine house.

25 And immediately he rose up before them, and took up that whereon he lay, and departed to his own house, glorifying God.

26 And they were all amazed, and they glorified God, and were filled with fear, saying, We have seen strange things to day.

27 ¶ And after these things he went forth, and saw a publican, named Lē'vi, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he said unto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose up, and followed him.

29 And Lē'vi made him a great feast in his own house: and there was a great company of publicans and of others that sat down with them.

30 But their scribes and Phär'i-sees murmured against his disciples, saying, Why do ye eat and drink with publicans and sinners?

31 And Jē'sus answering

Jesus the bread of life. ST. JOHN 6.

1003] CHAPTER 6.

Five thousand miraculously fed.

AFTER these things Jesus went over the sea of Galilee, which is the sea of Tiberias.
2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased.
3 And Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.
4 And the passover, a feast of the Jews, was nigh.
5 ¶ When Jesus then lifted up his eyes, and saw a great company come unto him, he saith unto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these may eat?
6 And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.
7 Philip answered him, Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.
8 One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, saith unto him,
9 There is a lad here, which hath five barley loaves, and two small fishes: but what are they among so many?
10 And Jesus said, Make the men sit down. Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand.
11 And Jesus took the loaves; and when he had given thanks, he distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down; and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.
12 When they were filled, he said unto his disciples, Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be lost.
13 Therefore they gathered them together, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves, which remained over and above unto them that had eaten.
14 Then those men, when they had seen the miracle that Jesus did, said, This is of a truth that prophet that should come into the world.
15 When Jesus therefore perceived that they would come and take him by force, to make him a king, he departed again into a mountain himself alone.

Jesus walketh on the sea.

16 And when even was now come, his disciples went down unto the sea,
17 And entered into a ship, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. And it was now dark, and Jesus was not come to them.
18 And the sea arose by reason of a great wind that blew.
19 So when they had rowed about five and twenty or thirty furlongs, they see Jesus walking on the sea, and drawing nigh unto the ship: and they were afraid.
20 But he saith unto them, It is I; be not afraid.
21 Then they willingly received him into the ship: and immediately the ship was at the land whither they went.

Jesus the bread of life.

22 The day following, when the people which stood on the other side of the sea saw that there was none other boat there, save that one whereinto his disciples were entered, and that Jesus went not with his disciples into the boat, but that his disciples were gone away alone;
23 (Howbeit there came other boats from Tiberias nigh unto the place where they did eat bread, after that the Lord had given thanks:)
24 When the people therefore saw that Jesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also took shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Jesus.
25 And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said unto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?
26 Jesus answered them and said, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Ye seek me, not because ye saw the miracles, but because ye did eat of the loaves, and were filled.
27 Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed.
28 Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God?
29 Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent.
30 They said therefore unto him, What sign shewest thou then, that we may see, and believe thee? what dost thou work?
31 Our fathers did eat manna in the desert; as it is written, He gave them bread from heaven to eat.
32 Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Moses gave you not that bread from heaven; but my Father giveth you the true bread from heaven.
33 For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world.

Phăr'ĭ-sees were offended, after they heard this saying?

13 But he answered and said, [m] Every plant, which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up.

14 Let them alone: [n] they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 [o] Then answered Pē'tĕr and said unto him, Declare unto us this parable.

16 And Jē'şus said, [p] Are ye also yet without understanding?

17 Do not ye yet understand, that [q] whatsoever entereth in at the mouth goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But [r] those things which proceed out of the mouth come forth from the heart; and they defile the man.

19 [s] For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies:

20 These are the things which defile a man: but to eat with unwashen hands defileth not a man.

21 ¶ [t] Then Jē'şus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tȳre and Sī'dŏn.

22 And, behold, a woman of Cā'năan came out of the same coasts, and cried unto him, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of Dā'vid; my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil.

23 But he answered her not a word. And his disciples came and besought him, saying, Send her away; for she crieth after us.

24 But he answered and said, [u] I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Ĭs'ra-el.

25 Then came she and worshipped him, saying, Lord, help me.

26 But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to [x] dogs.

27 And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table.

28 Then Jē'şus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour.

30 [a] And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jē'şus' feet; and he healed them:

CHAPTER 1.

1 Conquests by Judah. 8 Jerusalem taken. 21 The acts of Benjamin. 29 Nations remaining unconquered.

B. C. 1425.

NOW after the death of Jŏsh'u-a it came to pass, that the children of Ĭs'ra-el [a]asked the LORD, saying, Who shall go up for us against the Cā'năan-ītes first, to fight against them?

2 And the LORD said, [b]Jū'dah shall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hand.

3 And Jū'dah said unto Sĭm'e-on his brother, Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight against the Cā'năan-ītes; and I likewise will go with thee into thy lot. So Sĭm'e-on went with him.

4 And Jū'dah went up; and [d]the LORD delivered the Cā'năan-ītes and the Pĕr'ĭz-zītes into their hand: and they slew of them in Bē'zek ten thousand men.

5 And they found Ă-dŏn'ī-bē'zek in Bē'zek: and they fought against him, and they slew the Cā'năan-ītes and the Pĕr'ĭz-zītes.

6 But Ă-dŏn'ī-bē'zek fled; and they pursued after him, and caught him, and cut off his thumbs and his great toes.

7 And Ă-dŏn'ī-bē'zek said, Threescore and ten kings, having [1]their thumbs and their great toes cut off, [2]gathered their meat under my table: [e]as I have done, so God hath requited me. And they brought him to Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm, and there he died.

8 Now the children of Jū'dah had fought against Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm, and had taken it, and smitten it with the edge of the sword, and set the city on fire.

9 And afterward the children of Jū'dah went down to fight against the Cā'năan-ītes, that dwelt in the mountain, and in the south, and in the valley.

10 And Jū'dah went against the Cā'năan-ītes that dwelt in Hē'bron: (now the name of Hē'bron before was Kĭr'jath-ăr'bā:) and they slew Shē'shāi, and Ăh'ĭ-măn, and Tăl'mī.

11 And from thence he went against the inhabitants of Dē'bīr: and the name of Dē'bīr before was Kĭr'jath-sē'phēr.

12 And Cā'lĕb said, He that smiteth Kĭr'jath-sē'phēr, and taketh it, to him will I give Ăch'sah my daughter to wife.

13 And Ŏth'nĭ-ĕl the son of Kĕn'āz, the brother of Cā'lĕb, took it: and he gave him Ăch'sah his daughter to wife.

14 And it came to pass, when she came to him, that she moved him to ask of her father a field: and she lighted from off her ass; and Cā'lĕb said unto her, What wouldest thou?

15 Who answered him, Give me a blessing: for thou hast given me a south land; give me also springs of water. And Cā'lĕb gave her the upper springs and the nether springs.

16 And the children of the Kē'nīte, Mō'sĕs' father in law, went up out of the city of palm trees with the children of Jū'dah into the wilderness of Jū'dah, which lieth in the south of [o]Ā'răd; [p]and they went and dwelt among the people.

17 And Jū'dah went with Sĭm'e-on his brother, and they slew the Cā'năan-ītes that inhabited Zē'phath, and utterly destroyed it. And the name of the city was called [q]Hôr'mah.

18 Also Jū'dah took [r]Gā'zà with the coast thereof, and Ăs'ke-lŏn with the coast thereof, and Ĕk'rŏn with the coast thereof.

19 And [s]the LORD was with Jū'dah; and [5]he drove out the inhabitants of the mountain; but could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, because they had [t]chariots of iron.

20 [u]And they gave Hē'bron unto Cā'leb, as Mō'sĕs said: and he expelled thence the three sons of Ā'năk.

21 [v]And the children of Bĕn'ja-min did not drive out the Jĕb'u-sītes that inhabited Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm; but the Jĕb'u-sītes dwell with the children of Bĕn'ja-min in Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm unto this day.

22 ¶ And the house of Jō'seph, they also went up against Bĕth'-el: and the LORD was with them.

THE HOLMAN

Comparative Self-Pronouncing Teachers' Bible

CONTAINING, IN COMBINED TEXT,

The Authorized and Revised Versions of the Old and New Testaments

THE LINEAR PARALLEL METHOD

presents in a single line and in large, clear type the texts of the Authorized and Revised Versions of the Holy Bible, where said texts are alike. Where they are unlike, either in language, spelling, italicization, capitalization, parentheses, punctuation, or otherwise, the difference is at once set forth by means of double lines of smaller type, making a readily and easily readable combined text.

AN INSTANTANEOUS COMPARISON

There is nothing mysterious or involved about the Linear Bible—all is plain sailing. There are no parallel columns or embarrassing foot-notes to mystify one's understanding. To read the Authorized Version, one has but to read the large type line along to any point of difference in the respective versions, and then follow the UPPER small type line through such difference. Likewise, to read the Revised Version, one has but to read the large type line along to any difference in the respective versions, and then follow the LOWER small type line through such difference. This rule holds as to every difference, even to that of a comma. Thus, not only the readings but the comparisons of the two versions become easy, immediate, satisfactory and perfect.

The Bible Publishing House of

A. J. Holman & Co.

was established nearly forty years ago, succeeding to Bible publishers of over twenty years' standing, and this succession of Bible making extends back to the latter part of the eighteenth century.

The building shown in the illustration was erected in 1881 by the founder of this business. At that time only a part of the immense floor space was needed.

The growth of the business since has been such that to-day we occupy the entire plant and have a complete equipment of the most modern machinery used in the printers' and binders' art.

Seventeen years ago the first strictly American-made Teachers' Bible was produced in this house, when we first introduced the Pronouncing Feature in Teachers' and Hand Bibles.

The publishing, printing, and binding, together with every detail of manufacture, being done under one roof and under our own personal supervision, have enabled us to plan and execute many improvements in Bible making that have made the Holman line popular beyond our most sanguine expectations, so that the output of Holman Bibles now exceeds that of any other line sold in this country.

ANDERSON, MELVILLE B.

The Happy Teacher

10mo, boards, 60 cents, net; by mail, 65 cents.

This poem, first suggested by Wordsworth's "Happy Warrior," may be regarded as the confession of faith, in imaginative terms, of one who throughout a difficult third of a century (now professor emeritus at Stanford University) has endeavored to fix the attention of the young upon "the things that are more excellent." It is in five parts or movements, which might be respectively designated by the musical terms scherzo, andante, intermezzo, adagio, allegro. Its motives are the doubts that assail, the fears that beset, the ideals that guide, and the hopes that animate the teacher who deals with literature.

BARNETT, EVELYN S.

The Dragnet

12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

A closely-knit, exciting detective story, with an almost insolvable murder mystery. Besides the interest which attaches to the story and its characters, there is the further attraction of a well-drawn picture of competition in American business life.

BERNSTEIN, EDWARD

Evolutionary Socialism:

A Criticism and Affirmation.

(Translated by Edith C. Harvey)

12mo, cloth, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.10.

"This volume is undoubtedly the most noteworthy contribution to socialist literature within the past decade. So widespread has been its influence that it is now looked upon as constituting the 'Bible' of the revisionist wing of the socialists' following throughout the world."—The Annals of the American Academy of Politcal and Social Science.

"Edward Bernstein represents what might be called the modernist movement in socialism. To him, Marx and Engels are the starting point, rather than the end, of socialistic theory. But to elaborate the Marxian era it is necessary first of all to criticise it. In Evolutionary Socialism he carries forward this general method by a criticism of the Marxian theory of values, and then by making a careful study of economic life as it actually is. The volume is especially significant in that it indicates a new line of development in socialistic writers."—The World To-Day.

BIGELOW, JOHN

The Folly of Building Temples of Peace With Untempered Mortar

8vo, cloth, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.10.

The first part of the book is an arraignment of the New Apostolate of Peace and Hague Tribunal under the auspices of our government while waging an internecine war with not only all other commercial nations but especially with our own people through its nefarious tariff upon imports. A second part treats of "The Necessity of Building Temples of Peace with Tempered Mortar" and suggests for revenue purposes a substitute for the tariff, of Tempered Mortar, where the people would share with corporations in the earnings of all public utilities in proportion to the amount they respectively contribute to the joint capital.

BINNS, HENRY BRYAN

The Adventure

12mo, boards, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.06.

The author describes his volume as "a romantic variation on a Homeric theme." While the episode which suggested the play is told in the Odyssey it belongs to the folk-lore of all times and races. It is symbolical rather than merely classical, and as such Mr. Binns has treated it with something of the breadth and freedom demanded by its motive.

While the atmosphere of the book is charged with mystery and imagination, the spirit which dominates the freely-wrought verse is that of life and reality. For the theme is woven from the interplay of human purpose with the elemental powers of passion and death.

The Great Companions

12mo, boards, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.06.

Prose poems on such subjects as The Fellowship of the Earth; The Voice of Humanity; Tree-Life; The Coming of Man; The City; One of London's Lovers; Love's Body; For Comrades and Lovers, and Liberty. The author thus sounds his keynote:

"The verse-makers contrive how they may pair together most admirably, as they were lovers, certain words whose chime is pleasant to the ear: they set between them the due intervals: they weave them thus into their theme.

"But every poet hears, flowing amid the silence, the living intricate rhythm of the immortal song; its words progress together in a cosmic fellowship, inseparable, moving forward in the liberty of a living thing."

The Wanderer

Paper, 50 cents, net; by mail, 54 cents.

With photogravure after Botticelli

A collection of poems of which the principal one gives the book its title. "The Wanderer" is an attempt at literary expression of Botticelli's "Voyage of Venus."

BISHOP, EMILY M.

The Road to "Seventy Years Young"
Or, The Unhabitual Way

12mo, board sides, cloth back, $1.20, net; by mail, $1.28

Compared with the usual homilies about "growing old gracefully," this volume is a veritable "white blackberry." It is a chapter-a-day book; one to be read and re-read—it will help solve the daily problems which perplex and age. Live its philosophy and you will avoid growing crusty, prejudiced, garrulous, unlovely and unloveable. It is a book that makes one more interested in life and more interesting to live with; that helps one to keep old friends and to make new ones.

Here is a volume to give to those who are settling down; who are despondent; who are infected with the personal-history-disease; who are supersensitive and are always being "misunderstood;" who worry, and who "let things slide,"—to give to those who live in ruts.

It says what you would like to say and ought to say to your best friend and what your best friend would like to say and ought to say to you.

Daily Ways to Health

12mo, cloth, $1.50, net; by mail, $1.60.

"Mrs Bishop is here telling me and you and others just what we should do to be well, answering questions and objections, making us see we can, making us feel we must, impelling us with a sense of our obligation to society, if not to ourselves. All her long preparation, thorough knowledge of physiology, deep insight into psychology, intuitional grasp of the individual need, are with us, on every page.

"Every line of the book is practically applicable to life. Its suggestions and exercises are equally valuable to those who have had training and to those who have not.

"It is the best book to be found anywhere to help everyone put in practice at home, in school, at business, in society, the principles of the new health awakening." —Mrs. Robert M. La Follette in La Follette's Magazine.

BRENT, CHARLES H.

The Sixth Sense

(In The Art of Life Series)

12mo, cloth, 50 cents, net; by mail, 55 cents.

The title signifies the mystic or super sense, supplementing sight, smell, hearing, taste and touch. It evidences itself in relation to man physically, mentally, morally and spiritually. Upon its development and use depends the efficiency of the lower senses and all other faculties separately and collectively, and its operation is upon the subjective series of phenomena.

The sixth sense affects physical well-being in a manner that has been taught by the exponents of psychotherapy. In its relation to knowledge this sense awakens imagination and leads to discovery. It creates the hypotheses on which scientific results are achieved. As to man's character, it is a protection against moral fatalism and offers the means of seeing and appropriating moral ideals, and in its relation to things of the spirit it exercises its force as faith.

The cultivation and development of this sense equally in the four directions named is made simple by the practical suggestions offered throughout, and its dangers when limited to a single sphere are made plain. The author develops his thesis so convincingly that the sixth sense will become a reality, an ever-present force to those who read the book.

DELAGE, YVES and GOLDSMITH, MARIE

The Theories of Evolution

Translated by André Tridon.

Large 12mo, cloth, $2.00, net; by mail, about $2.20.

A clear, comprehensive and up-to-date summary of the principal theories of evolution and heredity; a book for the intelligent man who wishes to understand the situation without taking a university course.

Professor Yves Delage of the Sorbonne, "leader among French morphologists and experimenters" according to Professor Vernon L. Kellogg, and Marie Goldsmith, a Russian scientist and linguist possessing intimate knowledge of the latest biological discoveries the world over, are worthy associates.

The views of Darwin, Spencer, Lamarck and of their successors, the Neo-Darwinians and Neo-Lamarckians, and other representative thinkers of Europe and America are discussed in simple, readable, though rigorously scientific style. The increasing interest in Mendelism makes the chapter on that subject especially noteworthy.

Such current expressions as the struggle for life, the survival of the fittest, the influence of the environment, innate and acquired characters, the chemistry of life, which are generally misunderstood, although referred to constantly by modern writers and students of social problems, are very clearly defined; the application of the various biological theories to sociology and ethics is indicated in a strictly non-partisan spirit.

The translator André Tridon is well equipped for his share in this important work because of his thorough scientific training and his equal mastery of French and English.

FEUCHTERSLEBEN, ERNST VON

Health and Suggestion

The Dietetics of the Mind

Translated and edited by Ludwig Lewisohn.

12mo, board sides, cloth back, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.08.

"To those interested in this subject we would recommend this little volume. It has the great advantage of being brief and fundamental. It is interesting in that it was written seventy-five years ago. Dr. Elwood Worcester calls it an 'inimitable work,' and says, 'It contains the principles of our whole project, and expresses many phases of our thought better than we are able to express it.'

"Then the subject matter is splendid; and the author is so clear, ingenuous, fair, healthy minded, and moderate in his claims that he gains the confidence of the reader. The book will not only help to restore and preserve physical health, it will do the same for the moral health; it will do this because he teaches as his art the art of ruling oneself, which he claims is the first and last of all the arts. Self-restraint, he says, is the great discipline which moral and physical health demands. One will not find anything magical in this little book, but he will find the fundamental principles of the psychotherapeutic movement put in a plain and concise way by a physician who was loyal to the sane demands of scientific method."—Boston Transcript.

GILLMORE, INEZ HAYNES

June Jeopardy

12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

An unusual romance describing one exciting night in and about Boston. The plot keeps the reader guessing to the very end. It is marked by bright and interesting characters, sparkling and witty dialogue and clever situations. Rarely has an author's first book been received with such praise from the press as has this delightful novel.

Maida's Little Shop

With frontispiece, 12mo, cloth, $1.25 postpaid.

A millionaire's little daughter, cured of hip disease by bloodless surgery, pines for want of occupation. Billy Potter, a New York reporter, conceives the happy idea of having Maida "keep store." The story tells of her experiences; the friends she makes among the poor as well as rich children of the neighborhood; Granny Flynn and her long search for her daughter, and much else that will entertain children while conveying sound ethical teaching. The story makes delightful reading, even for grown-ups.

GOLDSMITH, MARIE, see DELAGE

GORKY, MAXIM

The Spy
The Story of a Superfluous Man
(Authorized translation by Thomas Seltzer)
12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

Many critics believe that this novel represents Gorky's best work. It is a realistic picture of the revolution and political life in Russia, broad in conception and bold, even sensational, in execution. He throws a powerful light on the under world and exposes the degradation, horror and mystery of the secret police system. The book is unusual in many respects, and it is indispensable to those who wish to understand the feverish conditions in Russia to-day.

GRIGGS, EDWARD HOWARD

Human Equipment:
Its Use and Abuse
(In The Art of Life Series)
12mo, cloth, 50 cents, net; by mail, 55 cents.

This deals compactly with the problem, so acutely important in our money-mad society, of the right use of things—the relation of man, both individually and collectively taken, to the tools and equipment of civilization. Its central thesis forms a trenchant criticism of the persistent superstition that lavish expenditure in careless luxury benefits society. The author shows, both by economic argument and historic example, that all use of the power money represents for what is either useless or harmful forces someone to work harder somewhere in the social structure, and, unchecked, is paid for at a terrible price in the end. Incidentally, there is an illuminating discussion of the causes of panics—those "clearing houses in which we pay our bad debts."

The style is peculiarly forceful and convincing, and the book is full of wise suggestion for the conduct of life.

HALL, BOLTON

What Tolstoy Taught

12mo, cloth, $1.50, net; by mail, $1.65.

A vast number of persons ask "What was it that Tolstoy taught?" and few can answer this other than stumblingly and haltingly. Millions have read Tolstoy, but comparatively few are familiar with his philosophy and religion except as they may be inferred from his fiction. This book contains the essence of the Russian prophet's life work practically in his own words. The subjects are classified and indexed and the book affords a long desired opportunity to all who have been anxious to acquaint themselves with Tolstoy's teachings without reading his two dozen volumes.

HARDIE, J. KEIR

India:

Impressions and Suggestions

12mo, boards, cloth back, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.08.

One of the most powerful personalities in England to-day is Keir Hardie, leader of the Labor Party, who, as a boy, taught himself to write by forming letters with his finger-nail on the grimy surfaces in the coal mine in which he was earning his bread. Throughout his life actuated by a love for truth and justice, he wished to see for himself the conditions in which the people whose cause he had espoused in Parliament were living. Two months in India with his eyes open resulted in this vivid picture. There are lessons in it for America, now that her future is bound up in that of the black and brown races under her control.

HAUPTMANN, GERHART

The Weavers

12mo, cloth, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.06.

Of Hauptmann's prose dramas the one that made the profoundest impression in all countries is "The Weavers." This stirring delineation of the condition of the Silesian workers and their revolt against the forces that were crushing them is symbolic of the consciousness to which labor everywhere is awaking; thus the drama possesses today the vitality that aroused Germany upon its production in Berlin almost two decades ago.

The Fool in Christ:
Emanuel Quint
Translated by Thomas Seltzer.
12mo, cloth, $1.50, net; by mail, $1.65.

"It seems likely that this book will ultimately take its place among the masterpieces of contemporary literature," says Current Literature. It is undoubtedly the greatest work that has come from the pen of Hauptmann and in its blending of religious and social motives and the lesson this life holds, is sure of a wide appeal. There is nothing in it to offend the Puritan, yet the author has hardly left any phase of religious fanaticism untouched. The book is a study of the religious emotions of Protestant Christianity among the lowly and ignorant. Hauptmann has chosen his native Silesia with its half-starved, credulous, mystical people for the scene. A poverty-stricken English country-side before the Corn-law agitation would be a luminous parallel. The fool in Christ is a pure-minded but, in a sense, degenerate person, highly individualized but nevertheless the type of the founders of sects amid Teutonic Protestants— a very German George Fox, but utterly gentle and non-militant. The Fool starts out simply and sincerely, remains sincere to the end but is fostered by the very credulity resting on temporal misery of the people in his delusion of Messianic power. Another important element: all through the book runs a half-silent, gravely ironic note which is to be interpreted thus: "And if Emanuel Quint had been Christ, modern society would treat him just so!" As a study in the religious emotions of Protestant Christianity it is weighty, almost monumental. Beginning with perfect objectivity it develops gradually a philosophic reach which is surprising. Having completed it, one feels that one has very definitely added to one's understanding of some of the race's fundamental characteristics.

HIGGINSON, THOMAS WENTWORTH

Things Worth While

(In The Art of Life Series)

12mo, cloth, 50 cents, net; by mail, 55 cents.

"After the author states those things which make human life on the whole worth living he seeks to condense them into a conundrum 'to be practically solved in life.' He then tells of the changes that will result from trying to find this solution, and how these changes are to come about, and how they will give a 'sunny aspect to our lives when we are wise in the use of time.' The result is peace and health, which, and all of it, can be summed up in the words 'truth is truth.' The book is charming and suggestive in its style of writing, and of the subject matter nothing more can be said than that the author's hope that the book may help in joy and sorrow will find confirmation in every reader."—Chicago Tribune.

A Scale of Human Values; with Directions for Personal Application.

(In The Art of Life Series)

12mo, cloth, 50 cents, net; by mail, 55 cents.

The author's thesis is that an estimate of a man can be conducted scientifically. He analyzes life, showing its fundamental relations and the varying degrees of fulfillment and of violation of each. His analysis and scale are presented, not for their possible use in judging others, but that they may be applied to ourselves. The fact that an edition in Japanese has appeared attests the broad influence which this book is exerting.

IRWIN, WALLACE

The Teddysee

Illustrated by M. L. Blumenthal.
12mo, boards, 75 cents, net; by mail, 80 cents.

The inimitable humor of the author of "The Love Sonnets of a Hoodlum" and "The Letters of a Japanese Schoolboy" is again revealed in this Homeric description of Mr. Roosevelt's wanderings after leaving the White House. The former President's friends and foes will find a laugh in every line and several in every picture.

IRWIN, WILL

The City That Was

A Requiem of Old San Francisco

12mo, board covers, 50 cents, net; by mail, 55 cents.
Limp leather, in box, autographed, $2.00, net; by mail, $2.08.

This vivid pen picture remains the most effective souvenir of the glory of San Francisco as it was before the earthquake and fire. None is better equipped than Mr. Irwin to tell the story of "the good, gray city."

The Confessions of a Con Man

12mo, cloth, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.10.
Illustrated by W. Glackens.

This is fact, not fiction. The Con Man lives; he spent his life dabbling in every crooked game known to the under world, and he has told his story to Mr. Irwin with the air of a connoisseur in petty crime.

The Readjustment

12mo cloth, $1.20, net; by mail, $1.30.

"Will Irwin knows California as a priest his prayers, and he knows, too, how to write a quick and telling story. This crisp, genial study of the 'eternal triangle' of two women and a man, has a breezy tone and a refreshing savor of originality. The characters, moreover, are well differentiated, well contrasted and real.

"Eleanor Gray is a spirited, high-souled girl whose reluctant fancy Bertram Chester captivates by sheer force of personality. Kate Waddington, handsome, vital, Californian and vigorous to the core, suits him much better, but it takes a tragic accident to bring full appreciation of this truth. Between the introduction and the separation of the two 'first principles' are chapters of quick and absorbing interest, redolent of the varied life of apricot ranches and a vanished San Francisco, alert and alive with the indefinable, irresistible spirit of undying youth."—Chicago Record-Herald.

JENKINS, STEPHEN

A Princess and Another

12mo, cloth, illustrated, $1.50 postpaid.

A convincing novel of old New York and Westchester counties before and during the Revolution. Up to the end the reader is baffled by the mystery of the hero's birth and is charmed by the interesting men and women who appear on the scene. New light is thrown on the events of the period and because of this the book should be read by students of American history.

JOHNSON, TOM L.

My Story

Introduction by Elizabeth J. Hauser.

Fully Illustrated.

Large 12mo, cloth, $2.00 net; by mail, about $2.20.

The last months of Tom L. Johnson's life were devoted to the preparation of a narrative of his struggle with special privilege. But this necessitated a discussion of his political and social relations and as the work expanded it became a story of his life. This fascinating autobiography—the incredible account of a selfmade man who, converted to a new principle, renounced all worldly gain when he had triumphantly acquired it and gave himself and his fortune for the realization of an ideal—will become part of the history of the industrial and economic evolution of the United States. Mr. Johnson's early career as a monopolist, his street-railroad fights, his relation with capitalists, noble and base, his political fights, his association with Henry George, his ambitions and successes as an inventor, his handling of municipal problems while Mayor of Cleveland, are only a few of the subjects which he wrote of.

Beethoven

The Man and the Artist, as Revealed in His Own Words

12mo, cloth, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.10.

Beethoven's own words, culled from letters, reports of conversations, diaries and sources unavailable prior to the compiler's research, and relating to many of the problems of the great composer's life. These have been classified and arranged under appropriate chapter headings.

Mozart

The Man and the Artist, as Revealed in His Own Words

12mo, boards, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.08

The above paragraph describes the scheme of this book as well. The unique personality of Mozart is revealed more effectively in these selected and classified quotations from his own pen than would be possible in the most painstaking study by another, of the light-hearted genius.

The opinions of these two books as expressed by distinguished musicians, and extracts from newspaper reviews sent upon application.

LEONARD, WILLIAM ELLERY

The Poet of Galilee

12mo, boards, cloth back, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.08.

An interpretation by a rationalist of the many-sided Jesus as revealed in the synoptic Gospels. This is a unique and brilliant work that will be as interesting to students of literature as to religionists. The author is Assistant Professor of English at the University of Wisconsin.

A critical review by Mr. Ludwig Lewisohn, reprinted from The Forum, may be had upon request.

LEVUSSOVE, M. S.

The New Art of an Ancient People

The Work of Ephraim Mose Lilien

Illustrated, 12mo, boards, 75 cents, net; by mail, 80 cents.
Limp leather, boxed, $2.00, net; by mail, $2.10.

In this volume Mr. Levussove introduces to American readers the artist Lilien who is not alone one of the leading draughtsmen of the world, but a man with a definite message, the message of the renascent Jewish people. The illustrations are remarkably fine specimens of Lilien's work in various moods.

LUBY, JAMES

The Black Cross Clove

12mo, cloth, $1.20, net; by mail, $1.30.

"The village of Winnesook, with its clove and cross-clove, suggests a hamlet at the foot of the Catskills. It forms a rustic theatre, in which a diversity of personalities meet at the psychological moment and work out their destinies. The hero of the story is Stephen Eltringham, a young New York painter, somewhat spoiled by the possession of a fortune, but still a manly and agreeable figure. The other parts of the eternal triangle are strongly in contrast with each other. Virginia Seaman is a gently bred girl of the metropolis, while Ruth Freer is not only a primitive village maiden, but also a strange compound of wierd imagination and worldly ambition, proud of the Indian strain in her blood, and chiefly absorbed in her fantastic love for the mythical Spirit of the Mountain, Winnesook, whom she longs to join. The story has its share of tragedy, but in the main it is not only interesting, but often amusing. The characters are firmly and vividly drawn, the plot unfolds naturally, and the style is pleasing."—New York Evening Post.

MARKHAM, EDWIN (Introduction by)

The Marvellous Year

4to, boards, $1.25, net; by mail, $1.35.

Text Anonymous.

Portraits by Gertrude Huebsch.

This volume supplies the most effective memorial to the year 1909 in which the centenaries of so many remarkable men were celebrated. It contains a specially drawn portrait of Calvin, Chopin, Darwin, Fitzgerald, Gladstone, Gogol, Haydn, Holmes, Kemble, Lincoln, Mendelssohn, Poe, Johnson and Tennyson, and a brief biographical essay by a writer who has exacted a pledge that his name be not used, interpreting the meaning of each life for the people of our day.

The introduction is written with a view of unifying the messages of the great lives and to showing their meaning for the purpose of a broad culture.

MASTERMAN, C. F. G.

In Peril of Change

Essays Written in Time of Tranquillity

12mo, cloth, $1.50, net; by mail, $1.60.

A trenchant survey of present-day Anglo-Saxon civilization, illuminating the forces, making for radical change. The work includes brilliant criticisms of men and books, an examination of the newer tendencies in thought, studies of contemporary society and current religious influences. The author is an M. P. and one of the youngest men in Mr. Asquith's cabinet.

A brief appreciation of this book written by Professor Earl Barnes will be sent upon request.

MATTHEWS, FRANKLIN

With the Battle Fleet

Illustrations in color by HENRY REUTERDAHL.
12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

A description of the memorable voyage of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet from Hampton Roads to San Francisco. The author has caught the spirit of the service and his story, while true in every detail, reads like a romance of travel and adventure. It is truly the epic of the Navy. Mr. Reuterdahl, the artist-laureate of the Navy, and himself an authority on naval affairs, expresses pictorially that which the author has accomplished with the pen. It is a book to stir the blood of every American. Admirals Dewey and Evans and other distinguished men endorse the book.

Back to Hampton Roads

Illustrated, 12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

This completes the story of the cruise, taking up the narrative at San Francisco, where "With the Battle Fleet" ends. Mr. Matthews was one of the few civilians who went all around the world with our fleet. This book tells of the visits to China, Japan, Hawaii, Philippines, Australia and New Zealand; the countries, people, government; the business, customs, politics. As our horizon widens a need is created for such a book as this, for it enables us to understand much of the feverish striving in the antipodes.

NOLEN, JOHN

Replanning Small Cities

8vo, cloth, $2.50, net; by mail, $2.70.

This volume is the first book to result from the recent widespread movement to improve and remodel American cities. It presents six typical American towns: Roanoke, Va.; San Diego, Cal.; Montclair, N. J.; Glen Ridge, N. J.; Reading, Pa. and Madison, Wis. It will readily be seen that each represents a different set of problems because of climate, industries, geographical features, etc. There are plans and illustrations together with full descriptions of the difficulties encountered by the average town in correcting past mistakes and preparing for future development. In the conclusions that may be reasonably drawn from these studies will be found, not only stimulus to thought, but encouragement to action.

OPPENHEIM, JAMES

Wild Oats

With a foreword by Edward Bok.
12mo, cloth, $1.20 net; by mail, $1.30.

The author of "Dr. Rast" has written a bold and powerful novel whose theme is The Great Black Plague, the most glaring danger of society. He approaches the subject with necessary frankness yet reverently and delicately. Physicians, editors, social workers, educators and influential men and women generally have recognized in this book an invaluable means of arousing the public conscience and dispelling ignorance fostered by tradition.

The Pioneers

A Poetic Drama in Two Scenes
Boards, 50 cents, net; by mail, 55 cents.

A two-act blank verse drama of '49. Poetic in feeling, inspiring in its outlook on the future, this play is new evidence of the rapidly developing powers of one of America's most promising poets. It is a playable drama, one that will appeal to amateurs especially in schools and colleges. First performed at Lanier Camp, Eliot, Me., August 26, 1910.

Pay Envelopes

12mo, cloth, $1.25, net; by mail, $1.35.
Illustrated by Harry Townsend

These are tales of the mills, the mines and the city streets. They are vivid stories of the real life of the toilers and they are related with simplicity and directness that make of each a cameo of tragedy; a vignette of drama. Thoughtful readers everywhere are following Oppenheim's work; their faith will be strengthened by this book.

PARSONS, FRANK

Legal Doctrine and Social Progress

12mo, cloth, $1.50, net; by mail, $1.60.

If all interpreters of law were as sane and broad as the late Professor at Boston University the law would indeed be common sense. The author believes that the main body of the law is primarily a reflection of the general progress of humanity toward abstract justice, independent in its basis and essence of economic interest and class bias. He was a social reformer of the best type and, though isolated quotations may seem even more than radical, his sound reasoning, even when he says that the law really resides "in the breast of the judge" will convince the most conservative. The work is one whose importance will readily make itself apparent to laymen as well as to lawyer and judge.

PATTEN, SIMON NELSON

Product and Climax

(In The Art of Life Series)

12mo, cloth, 50 cents, net; by mail, 55 cents.

The author discerns as fundamental evils, overwork and overcrowding, and finds wanting a proper balance between action in toil and reaction in enjoyment. He contrasts simple country life in which activity evokes immediate and healthy response with conditions in the city where toil and pleasure are incongruously joined.

He aims to remedy existing conditions of labor and housing and to bring about the right relation between work and play with the purpose of making a healthier and happier people. A simple diagnosis of the disease and simple suggestions for its cure are offered to those interested in social and moral betterment.

PFLEIDERER, OTTO

(Translated by Daniel A. Huebsch)
12mo, cloth, $1.50, net; by mail, $1.60.

This last book by the great philosopher-theologian completes his trilogy of works intended for lay readers as well as ministers. He traces the growth of Christianity from its beginning to the present day, and illuminates this much-discussed theme by his incomparable insight and wisdom.

Christian Origins

(Translated by Daniel A. Huebsch)
12mo, cloth, $1.50, net; by mail, $1.60.

The results of forty years of critical research in the origins and development of Christianity and the Church are here set forth by the late professor of theology at the University of Berlin. This book is truly indispensable to all students of the history and philosophy of religion.

Religion and Historic Faiths

(Translated by Daniel A. Huebsch)
12mo, cloth, $1.50, net; by mail, $1.60.

A brief, lucid interpretation of the great ethnic faiths, of Christianity historically and rationally conceived, and as well a discussion of what religion is in itself, how it originates, and what its relation to ethics is. It is a book especially serviceable to clergymen unable to acquire large libraries and to laymen who are disposed to study comparative religion and to know at least what its conclusions are.

A booklet containing a critical estimate of "Religion and Historic Faiths," by George Perry Morris of the Boston Herald, and of "Christian Origins," by Prof. William Benjamin Smith of Tulane University, will be sent to those interested; also an appreciation of "The Development of Christianity" from the pen of Prof. William Ellery Leonard of the University of Wisconsin.

PRICE, GEORGE B.

Gaining Health in the West
(Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona)
Being Impressions of a Layman Based on Seven Years' Personal Experience with "Climate."
16mo, cloth, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.06.

This is a unique volume, invaluable to laymen, for whom it was written, as well as physicians who may be interested in the treatment of consumption in great altitudes. Very much as would an earnest and well-informed friend, the author discusses with the consumptive all the material and ethical aspects of life in the West. The book has received the endorsement of those interested in the study of tuberculosis, and many specialists are prescribing it instead of drugs.

ROSS, EDWARD ALSWORTH

Latter Day Sinners and Saints
(In The Art of Life Series)
12mo, cloth, 50 cents, net; by mail, 55 cents.

This recent book in the series embodies the indictment by the progressive thinkers of to-day of the most vicious elements of our society, and a programme for social and political house cleaning. It is a brief and compact study for busy people: a survey of the entire subject by an observer trained and unfettered, an expositor fresh and lucid.

SPARGO, JOHN

The Spiritual Significance of Modern Socialism
Boards, cloth back, 50 cents, net by mail, 55 cents.

The author makes clear that Socialism in its economic aspect is but a single phase of a great movement; that in every avenue of its activity, a higher meaning is connoted and that every Socialistic aspiration is as important ethically as economically and politically. He demonstrates that his cause requires no defense on its spiritual side and assumes the aggressive, drawing a powerful indictment against organized religion.

The Substance of Socialism

Boards, cloth back, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.08.

Mr. Spargo undertakes to make clear many implications of Socialism that are obscure to those who have not studied the subject thoroughly. In the first section he answers those who believe that Socialism is a Utopian project; he proves that it is practicable and compares the movement with other reforms which were at first regarded as the speculations of dreamers. The second part of the book is devoted to a consideration of private property and personal liberty in the Socialist State; the status of both will remain unchanged, he avers. Lastly he answers the school of critics represented by Mr. Roosevelt in his attack on "the foul doctrine of class consciousness." Boldly and uncompromisingly Mr. Spargo takes issue and argues that the doctrine possesses a moral value and that opposition to it breeds anarchy.

Karl Marx, His Life and Work

Cloth, 8vo, $2.50, net; by mail, $2.70.

The first adequate and authoritative biography of the founder of modern Socialism. It presents a vivid picture of the great human figure whose ideas govern a world-wide movement with millions of followers. For twelve years Mr. Spargo has been at work gathering and verifying his material, assisted by Marx's friends the world over, and Mme. Lafargue, his only surviving daughter, with the result that his book will forever be an indispensable one for the study of Socialism, its history and its founder. As a human document it will take rank with the great biographies of literature; as an analysis of Socialism it has no parallel in value to students of economics and politics. The standing of the author places his pre-eminent fitness for the task beyond question.

Sidelights on Contemporary Socialism

Boards, cloth back, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.08.

Under the above title Mr. Spargo, has issued another important collection of related essays. The divisions of the book are entitled: I. Marx, Leader and Guide; II. Anti-intellectualism in the Socialist Movement, A Historical Survey; III. The Influence of Marx on Contemporary Socialism. Especial interest attaches to the work in that it refutes the oft-repeated charge against Socialist writers that they address different arguments to their brethern than to outsiders. The first two sections were prepared for reading to Socialist audiences, the third appeared in the American Journal of Sociology.

SUDERMANN, HERMANN

The Song of Songs

[Das Hohe Lied]

Translated by Thomas Seltzer.

12mo, cloth, $1.40, net; by mail, $1.55.

Sudermann's many dramas and novels may be regarded as merely preliminary studies for this, his masterpiece. It is the story of a beautiful girl animated by high ideals and beset by temptations on every side. Lilly suggests, remotely, Daudet's Sappho and Dumas' Camille, in a nobler embodiment. Alone in the world, loving and sympathetic by disposition, she encounters successively sordid poverty, wealth and libertinism, false love, dazzling bohemianism, perfect bliss, then commonplace Philistinism. How she threads her way over high peaks and through dark valleys, how she resists and how she succumbs, are the actuating springs of a novel incomparable in this decade.

TOLSTOY, LEO N., see HALL

TRAUBEL, HORACE

Optimos

(With photogravure portrait)

12mo, cloth, $1.50, net; by mail, $1.60.

The public will always associate Mr. Traubel's name with that of Walt Whitman, whose literary executor he is. The discriminating, however, have long since recognized Mr. Traubel's independent worth as a poet. This volume contains a selection of the best work that has appeared in "The Conservator" as well as some poems hitherto unpublished.

WISE, STEPHEN S.

Is it Well with the Child?

(In preparation; description in Fall catalogue)

ZUEBLIN, CHARLES

The Religion of a Democrat

12mo, boards, cloth back, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.08.

The author looks into the future and offers the outlines of genuine democratic religion. The present relations of the individual to the State and the Church are analyzed; the social, economic and religious causes of our unrest are considered, and the way to better conditions is pointed out.

Democracy and the Overman.

12mo, board sides, cloth back, $1.00, net; by mail, $1.08.

Through Mr. Zueblin's keen eyes we are enabled to see things from unsuspected viewpoints. The changing status of women, the influence of the press, modern society in all its ramifications, are passed before us as on a canvas, while a bold and unconventional thinker utters thought-stimulating comment.

MACHINERY'S
25-cent Mechanical Books

Thoroughly Advertised—Fully Returnable

IN A NUTSHELL

These 25-cent books have the highest technical merit. They are not trashy, superficial or amateurish.

Typographically, these 25-cent books are first-class in every respect. The engravings are excellent.

Each book contains from 32 to 48 pages. Page size is standard 6 x 9. Tough paper covers.

These are the only mechanical books regularly and thoroughly advertised by the publishers.

These are the only high-grade books ever offered at a low price. Dealers sell 150 copies quicker than they sell three $3.00 mechanical books. Readers in the mechanical field know what they want when they see it.

THE INDUSTRIAL PRESS

49-55 Lafayette Street, New York City, U. S. A.

Publishers of MACHINERY, Etc.

MACHINERY'S
25-cent Mechanical Books

Standard Page—6 x 9—Paper Covers
Thoroughly Advertised in Manufacturing Plants Everywhere
Fully Returnable

The sales of these 25-cent mechanical books, first offered through the trade one year ago, have been at least ten times the total of all other mechanical books published, and in many sections these sales, produced by a unique advertising method instituted by the publishers, have created a new body of customers for the dealer, and for practically his whole line.

The chief reasons for the extraordinary success of these new mechanical books may be stated briefly, as follows:—

The books, although in pamphlet form and selling for only 25-cents per copy, are of the highest technical merit and especially appreciated by practical men. These are not books for the general reader, but for men engaged in mechanical work—the Engineer, the Designer, the Machinist and the Apprentice.

The books are totally different in character from any 25-cent mechanical books ever before published. They are first-class typographically as well as technically. The type and engravings are new; the paper is of excellent quality and the page is standard size—6 x 9.

The data and other information in the books are always up-to-date. This is made possible in two ways:—

(a.) We publish in editions of 5000 each, although we are warranted in making each edition 25000.

(b.) This enables us to constantly revise the material, so that new and revised editions with the latest data are always in hand. We are always in touch with original sources of information, and MACHINERY'S Editorial Staff keeps all the material regularly revised.

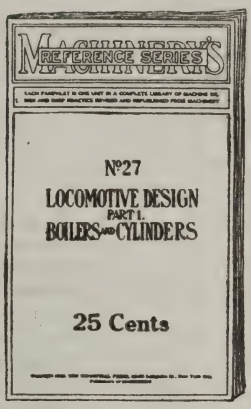
These are the only mechanical books in the world offered through the trade, that have a serious and thoroughly organized advertising campaign behind them. We have friends in almost every works in the country and our advertising literature is sent into every plant regularly.

We deal liberally with the trade; and with a large and well trained organization we handle the business promptly and without the slightest bother.

Our books are fully returnable. And, as we have ample resources, collections and accounts are handled in a business-like manner and without friction.

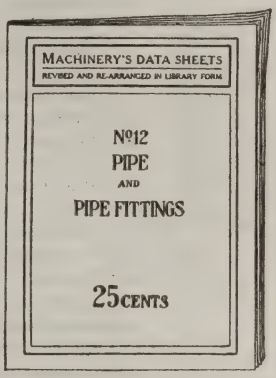
Two Series of these 25-cent Books

THE REFERENCE BOOKS
25 Cents Per Copy



There are now 72 Reference Books in the series, and the complete list of titles will be found on next page. These books have sold so rapidly, that all are now printed in the third or fourth edition. Each new edition is subjected to the closest kind of editorial revision by MACHINERY'S Staff and new material of importance is incorporated. This is one of the great advantages of the system of books originated by MACHINERY. It is always up-to-date.

THE DATA BOOKS
25 Cents Per Copy



Wherever you find mechanical men anywhere in the world, you find MACHINERY'S Data Sheets. For twelve years they have held the record for sales in the mechanical field, and now that they are for the first time available in book form, their usefulness as well as their popularity will be greater than ever.

MACHINERY'S staff has been for some time engaged in the task of preparing the mass of data sheets for publication in book form, and the result will meet the approval and hearty support of thousands who find these data absolutely indispensable in practical work.

There are 20 Data books in all and the titles are given on the next page. The peculiar merit of these Data books is that they contain a great many mechanical tables, charts, diagrams and formulas for the practical man whose work is largely confined to machine design or machine operation. It is this which gives such exceptional value to the Data Books. Hand-books contain a lot of material of little value to him. These new Data Books contain hardly anything that is not of constant, practical utility in shop work. The general character of the books may be inferred from the fact that one whole book, of forty 6 x 9 pages, containing 33 full page tables, and seven pages of explanatory matter, is devoted to screw threads alone.

The 20 books are uniform in size and style—6 x 9 page—well printed on fine paper. The tables are carefully grouped, and we predict that the sales of these Data Sheet books, backed by the prestige which the original Data Sheets secured on their merits, will surpass all former records for mechanical literature.

One of the Advertisements sent into 26,000 Plants Reaching 500,000 Readers

Visit the principal booksellers in your town in order to see MACHINERY'S splendid line of 25-cent mechanical books for self-education. There is nothing like them. They are absolutely reliable; they are practical and right up-to-date. See for example, No. 1, on Worm Gearing; No. 18, on Shop Arithmetic for the Machinist; No. 20, Spiral Gearing; Nos. 41, 42 and 43 on Jigs and Fixtures; No. 63, Heat Treatment of Steel; No. 46, Hardening and Tempering. For 25 cents you can secure any book in the series. Each is complete in itself. Just buy one from your dealer. There are 72 Reference Books at 25 cents each, and 20 Data Books, same price. Buy one or more just as you please. But you will never buy any other mechanical books after you have read one of these, and in time you will probably buy every one of the series. See No. 35—Tables and Formulas for Shop and Drafting Room.

You can get more practical information and ideas from one number of MACHINERY than from six numbers of any other mechanical journal on earth—bar none. Just prove it: Lay a copy of MACHINERY beside any other mechanical publication—take the one you think will make the best showing—and compare the two. Compare them, page by page, for definite, practical, useful information, for the amount furnished, and for the way it is handled, and then decide. And don't fail to note the difference in typographical effect—for there is a very considerable difference as you will see. That is the result of organization, care and training, and liberality in outlay. MACHINERY is in all respects the foremost mechanical journal published. It is for readers to judge, and we have abundant evidences of their favorable regard for MACHINERY.

Get a copy of MACHINERY from your newsdealer or bookseller; 15 cents a copy—well worth it. See our appeal for the Dealer entitled: "Buying at Home".

The Retail Price is 15 Cents a Copy

DEALERS everywhere report a very satisfactory sale of MACHINERY'S 25-cent mechanical books, although we are only at the beginning of the advertising campaign planned to regularly cover every manufacturing plant in the country, reaching 500,000 readers.

MACHINERY is the foremost mechanical journal published. The chief characteristic of MACHINERY is that it is educational along practical lines. A working knowledge of Machine Design and Machine Shop Practice may be acquired by any reader who takes the trouble to study the methods employed in actual mechanical practice as these are faithfully and graphically described monthly in MACHINERY. The publication is read with interest and profit by the Manufacturer of Machinery, and by the Apprentice in his works. Each finds what he needs. It is read by Mechanical Engineers, Works Managers, Designers, Master Mechanics, Foremen in Machine Shops, Millwrights, Machinists and Toolmakers, and has many readers in trades closely allied.

MACHINERY should be offered in conjunction with the 25-cent books, because the advertising covers the periodical as well as the books, and the demand should be provided for. We are perfectly willing to supply a few copies each month on the fully returnable basis, as explained in our proposition. There is no way that you can build up a steady sale except by showing the periodical and getting your customers started.

We are perfectly familiar with the mechanical field and can reach all the buyers in it. MACHINERY'S standing and resources are such as to warrant the statement that whatever is undertaken will be handled thoroughly. We solicit your co-operation and assure you that it will pay.

Every mechanic knows that the simplest machines are usually the most efficient. This is as true of books as of machines. The great classics are remarkable for the simplicity of their language and for the small number of words used to convey their meaning. There are books and books of Receipts and Formulas, and some of them are called Cyclopædias and sell for from $3.00 to $10.00 per copy. MACHINERY'S staff knew all this long ago, for we have such books in our Engineering Library; and we knew that it was very desirable to bring out a book of Shop Receipts that would be totally different from those large and pretentious volumes, and that would give machinists, draftsmen and others engaged in mechanical practice, exactly the kind of information they need, and nothing else. So MACHINERY began many years ago to publish Shop Receipts in its pages, knowing that this would bring the best and most reliable receipts from plants all over the country, which it did, and they were published monthly for more than a year. We have produced a simple, compact book, bound substantially and elegantly in red cloth, with gold lettering, eliminating cooking receipts and others of no earthly use to anyone. The book contains only really valuable, practical, tried and proved Shop Receipts of use in machine shop and drafting room every day in the week, and the price is only $1.00.

The book contains 62 pages and Indexes; the page is standard size 6 x 9, and the type all new and clear; the paper is up to MACHINERY'S best standard, and the whole gives a readable and handy book well worth owning. The results warrant the care that was taken, and this, with the low price, will fully satisfy MACHINERY'S readers.

THE BOOK OF LOVE

Arranged by Jennie Day Haines. Artistically produced, with specially designed lining paper and page decorations. Printed in two colors throughout. Frontispiece by Karl Anderson in full color. 8vo. Cloth; with four-color inlay on cover. In artistic box. $1.50 net; by mail, $1.64

Mrs. Haines has gathered the best thoughts on love by the world's great writers, including the light and humorous, as well as the deep and serious. Her collection ranges from "Josh Billings" and Colley Cibber all the way to Shakespeare and Elizabeth Barrett Browning. The character of the selections and the make-up of the book make it particularly appropriate for gift purposes.

THE VIOLET BOOK

A compilation of charming poetry pertaining to the violet, selected and arranged by Willis Boyd Allen. Artistically produced, with violet-decorated title page and lining paper and decorations in violet on every page. Twelve full-page illustrations. 8vo. Cloth, with printed violet cover. In artistic violet box. $1.50 net; by mail, $1.64

With such a wealth of material pertaining to the violet, it seems strange that no one has heretofore collected it in an appropriate volume. It is surely one of the most popular flowers to be found in any country, and for centuries poets have apostrophized it and sung its praises. Some of the poets represented in this collection are: J. G. Whittier, O. W. Holmes, J. R. Lowell, R. W. Emerson, Celia Thaxter, Edith M. Thomas, Mary Mapes Dodge, Harriet Prescott Spofford, E. C. Stedman, Clinton Scollard, etc.

A BOOK OF FRIENDSHIP

A Collection of Prose and Verse on the Subject of Friends and Friendship. Compiled by Ina Russelle Warren. Artistically produced with specially designed title page and attractive marginal decorations. Printed in two colors throughout. 8vo. Cloth, with picture on cover. In artistic box. $1.50 net; by mail, $1.65

Some of the authors represented are: Robert Browning, Charles Dickens, James Whitcomb Riley, Eugene Field, Helen Hunt Jackson, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Gail Hamilton, Robert Louis Stevenson, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Henry Van Dyke, etc.

MOTHER LOVE

This is primarily a book for young mothers, though the selections appeal to mothers of any age. Some of the writers represented are: Elizabeth Barrett Browning, E. Harriet Howe, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, Washington Irving, George Eliot, Sir Edwin Arnold, Mary Aigne De Vere, etc.

O wondrous mother love! how strange and deep,
With that vibrating thrill of tenderness;
Sweet is thine infant's warm unconsciousness,
And sweeter thy mysterious, sacred power!

UNDER THE HOLLY BOUGH

A Collection of Christmas Poetry. Edited by Ina Russelle Warren. Artistically produced, with decorative title page and decorations in color on every page. Twelve photogravure illustrations reproduced from famous paintings. 8vo. Cloth, decorative cover. In artistic box. $1.50 net; by mail, $1.64

The most attractive collection of miscellaneous Christmas poetry ever made in book form. One of the handsomest and most desirable of gift books. Such well-known writers as Robert Louis Stevenson, James Whitcomb Riley, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Edwin Markham, Josephine Dodge Daskam, Edmund Clarence Stedman, Margaret Sangster, J. G. Holland, Edith M. Thomas, Andrew Lang, Carolyn Wells, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Alfred Tennyson, William Wordsworth, etc., are represented.

MY LADY'S TOILETTE

A fac-simile reproduction of a clever little book, written and hand-colored by a Virginia lady over a century ago. Different design in color on every page. Dainty cover, printed in color and tied with ribbon. In attractive box. $1.00 net; by mail, $1.05

This charming and clever conceit will please the dainty women of to-day equally as much as it did their grandmothers. On each page some article for the toilet is represented in color, and below it is an appropriate verse. For instance, a delicately tinted china box is shown, labeled "rouge." The verse below reads:

"Touch with this compound the soft lily cheek,
And the bright glow will best its virtues speak."

Upon raising the hinged lid of the box the word "Modesty" is revealed. Thus each dainty toilet article is made to represent some attribute of female character. The little book has an old-time quaintness that is hard to describe.

SWEET ARDEN

A Book of the Shakespeare Country. By George Morley, author of "Leafy Warwickshire," etc. Small 12mo. Cloth; insert illustration on cover. Ten full-page illustrations in color from paintings by Monro S. Orr. $1.25 postpaid

For all lovers of Shakespeare this dainty little book possesses an indescribable charm. We walk with Mr. Morley through the forest of Arden, along the quaint old streets of Stratford, or across the fields to Shottery, seeing the beauty of our surroundings through his eyes, and enjoying the romantic history of these scenes by reason of his keen appreciation.

It gives the reader the true idea of the spirit of the land as it must have appealed to Shakespeare.—London Spectator.

THE AULD AYRSHIRE OF ROBERT BURNS

By T. F. Henderson. Small 12mo. Cloth; insert illustration on cover. Ten full-page illustrations in color from paintings by Monro S. Orr. $1.25 postpaid

A delightful little volume, describing in charming manner the places of interest associated with the life and writings of Burns. Mr. Henderson is not only thoroughly familiar with his subject, but in love with it, and he makes the reader love "Auld Ayrshire," also.

THE HEART OF SPAIN

An Artist's Impression of Toledo. By Stewart Dick, author of "The Arts and Crafts of Old Japan," etc. With reproductions of six water-color drawings by the author, and thirty other illustrations. Small 12mo. Cloth; insert illustration on cover. $1.25 postpaid

This volume is a record by means of pen and pencil of the beauty and fascination of this wonderful old city, where the blending of East and West, the mingling of Christian and Arab elements, the contrast of Gothic and Moorish art, are a never-failing source of wonder.

FOOTSTEPS OF SCOTT

The Story of the Writer as Revealed in His Country. By W. S. Crockett, author of "In the Border Country," etc. Ten full-page illustrations exquisitely colored after water-color paintings by Tom Scott. 12mo. Cloth. $1.25 net; by mail, $1.35

The very words, "the Land of Scott," bring to mind a profusion of natural beauty and a wealth of romance that perhaps no other words could suggest. All this romance of storied castles and ancient abbeys, all this beauty of natural scenery, is here well depicted, as we follow the footsteps of this prince of romance through his own country.

The great Sir Walter should be better read and loved for this tribute to his fame.—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE OLD ENGLISH CHRISTMAS

Half-cloth $1.25 net; by mail, $1.35
Full limp leather $2.00 net; by mail, $2.10

Every one knows, or ought to know, these charming sketches by Irving, and when it is said they are illustrated by Brock and wrought into an exquisite book, nothing more need be added.

The Narrative of a Sketching Cruise Along the North Coast of France. By Charles Pears. With forty full-page illustrations by the author, twenty of them in color from water-color sketches. Large type; heavy paper. 8vo. Cloth; uncut edges. Boxed. $4.00 net; by mail, $4.20

Mr. Pears narrates in a graphic and informal style his impressions of the cruise and of the various ports which he touches, showing an unusual faculty for kindly observations on local characteristics.

"The book combines literary, artistic, and practical value in an uncommon degree."

SHAKESPEARE'S SWEETHEART

By Sara Hawks Sterling. 8vo. Cloth, with insert illustration on front cover. Gilt top, with decorated title page and five illustrations in color by Clara Elsene Peck, and marginal decorations in color on every page. In handsome box. $2.00 postpaid

"Shakespeare's Sweetheart" is the love story of William Shakespeare and Anne Hathaway, related in such quaint, yet finished, style that it suggests the rhythm of Shakespeare's own poetry and the literary atmosphere in which he lived.

A LADY OF KING ARTHUR'S COURT

More delightful than any fiction.—The Philadelphia Public Ledger.

KING'S FAVORITE

The Love Story of Robert Carr and Lady Essex. By Philip Gibbs, author of "The Romance of George Villiers," etc. With photogravure and other illustrations. 12mo. Cloth; stamped in gold; gilt top. $4.00 net; by mail, $4.20

In the reigns of the Stuart kings, when life was full of romance, there is no more romantic story than the rise and fall of Robert Carr, Earl of Somerset. It is a passionate drama of love, as full of human interest as any tale told by the great masters of historical romance.

"Here is as much interest, as much action, and as much color as can be found in any novel."

ILLUSTRATED BY YOSHIO MARKINO.

In the following books on this page the illustrations are so unique and distinctive as to deserve a special word. The artist, Yoshio Markino, is a Japanese of Samurai descent—a warrior-noble. He has the psychic birthmarks of his rank—pride, loyalty and gratitude, stoical will, integrity, and a deep and stout contempt for all commercialism.

He first came to America, landing in San Francisco, when anti-Japanese feeling was at fever point. He was often pelted with stones, and ladies moved away from him in the street cars as if he were a leper. Finding the atmosphere unbearable, he went to London. Here he was in less physical danger, but his efforts to gain a living met for a time with little better success.

The story of his struggles and hardships before he conquered adversity, and won recognition as an artist, is truly pathetic. Many a day he had barely a crust of bread to eat, and for lack of carfare he was often forced to walk miles from his humble lodgings to do the most menial work. He had fully resolved upon suicide, when, chancing to drop into Cassell's, his sketches received that encouragement which saved to the world an artistic genius.

OXFORD FROM WITHIN

By Hugh de Selincourt. With twenty full-page illustrations by Yoshio Markino, twelve of them in color. Large 12mo. Cloth; stamped in gold. $3.00 net; by mail, $3.15

An intimate account of student life at Oxford, novel in plan and execution. It describes a visit made to Oxford by an Oxford man, and gives a remarkably illuminating picture of the place and the life lived there.

THE COLOUR OF LONDON

Personal, Historical and Social. By W. J. Loftie. With an Introduction by M. H. Spielmann. Forty-eight illustrations in color and eight sepia drawings, by the Japanese artist, Yoshio Markino. Large type; heavy paper. 8vo. Cloth; uncut edges. $5.00 net; by mail, $5.20

A delightful volume, in which the descriptions vie with the illustrations to seduce one by their charm.—Chicago Evening Post.

THE COLOUR OF ROME

By O. M. Potter. With sixty illustrations from water-color and sepia drawings by the famous Japanese artist, Yoshio Markino, and with an essay by the artist. Large type; heavy paper. 8vo. Cloth; uncut edges. $5.00 net; by mail, $5.20

A delightful blending of description, history and narrative, giving in fullest sense the "local color" of the Imperial City, that great center of art, religion and history. Mr. Markino, the artist, has brought to his task that keen perception of contrasts and that trained eye for color that are peculiar to the Oriental.

A JAPANESE ARTIST IN LONDON

By Yoshio Markino. With twelve full-page illustrations by the author, eight of them in color. 12mo. Cloth. $2.00 net; by mail, $2.16

In charming English, broken but very readable, this talented son of the Orient tells the story of his life among the British people, who have received him so cordially. The quaint phraseology is strikingly effective and well suited to the alternating humor and pathos of his story. It is the real story of a real life—true, unvarnished, revealing, at first, such terrible hardship, and, ultimately, such remarkable success as few are ever destined to know.

A human document prismatic with proudly repressed pathos and quietly sparkling humor.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The sort of book with which one is not done after just one reading.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Of unique interest. Few stories in recent literature are so compelling.—Boston Transcript.

One of the most affecting documents I have ever read—the record of a brave, clean soul, revealing unconsciously its innocence and sweetness and pluck.—London Times.

It is believed that every single piece in the book has some special merit, and that no apology is necessary for having introduced a few nursery rhymes.

MIRABEAU AND THE FRENCH REVOLUTION

By Hon. Charles F. Warwick. 8vo. Cloth; stamped in gold, with shield on front cover; gilt top; uncut edges. Fully illustrated from original portraits and rare prints. $2.50 net; by mail, $2.65

In this volume Mr. Warwick depicts the social and political conditions existing in France prior to the Revolution, and shows how Mirabeau gave development and outward form to the great movements of that period. Mr. Warwick shows, too, the wonderful influence Mirabeau exerted over the masses, and suggests what course the Revolution would probably have taken had Mirabeau lived to direct it.

The book is not only a biography, but also a study of Mirabeau's influence upon his times, and the picture of this first apostle of French liberty is drawn with clear, bold strokes.

DANTON AND THE FRENCH REVOLUTION

By Hon. Charles F. Warwick. Author of "Mirabeau and the French Revolution." Fully illustrated from original portraits and rare prints. 8vo. Cloth; gilt top. $2.50 net; by mail, $2.65

Written in a popular style that will appeal to the general reader, it is a complete history of that portion of the Revolution with which "the great tribune," Danton, was identified. Indeed, dealing as it does with the attack on the Tuileries, the attempted flight of the king, his imprisonment, trial, sentence and execution, it covers the most vitally interesting part of the entire "Reign of Terror."

ROBESPIERRE AND THE FRENCH REVOLUTION

By Hon. Charles F. Warwick, author of "Mirabeau and the French Revolution," etc. Illustrated from rare engravings. 8vo. Cloth; stamped in gold; uncut edges; gilt top. $2.50 net; by mail, $2.65

This is the third volume of Mr. Warwick's great trilogy on the French Revolution. Besides being a complete biography of the great leader whose name it bears, the book also gives a full account of the closing scenes of that period of terror and bloodshed, and includes a summary of the chief events and happenings of the entire Revolution. Instead of the monster generally depicted, Mr. Warwick makes Robespierre seem very human indeed—weak, revengeful and selfish, it is true, but at heart a man and not a beast.

NAPOLEON AND THE END OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION

By Hon. Charles F. Warwick, author of "Mirabeau and the French Revolution," etc. Illustrated from rare engravings. 8vo. Cloth; stamped in gold; uncut edges; gilt top. $2.50 net; by mail, $2.65

In his three previous volumes on Mirabeau, Danton and Robespierre, Mr. Warwick has given a complete history of the French Revolution, in the form of readable biography. Believing that the story of that turbulent period is not complete without an account of the rise to power of the first consul, he has prepared this fourth volume. It is the result of untiring study and of careful comparison of all available records. As Mr. Warwick says, "The French Revolution made Napoleon," and it is but fitting that the story of his career should close the series.

Edited by Ellis Paxson Oberholtzer, Ph.D. With the counsel and advice of Prof. John B. McMaster, of the University of Pennsylvania. Each volume 12mo. Cloth. With frontispiece portrait. $1.25 net; by mail, $1.37

In preparing this series two special features have been kept in mind: First, to have the series as a whole constitute a complete history of the Civil War; second, to select writers belonging to the younger generation, thus securing freedom from any suspicion of war-time prejudice. These points make the work especially valuable from the viewpoint of the historian.

"This series of biographies, to consist of twenty-four volumes when completed, is the most ambitious attempt ever made to collect in one series the lives of the men who led the United States through the greatest crisis in the country's history."—The Philadelphia Public Ledger.

In these studies the author has aimed to show the relationship between the novelist's life and his art; and, without going exhaustively into the details of each one's individual novels, to indicate their main tendency and the underlying idea of each writer's complete work.

Although condensed in form, in material it evidences completeness and breadth of view.—Chicago Record-Herald.

In its field the book has never been surpassed, and it furnishes interesting material for what might be called the domestic side of the Revolution.—Buffalo Express.

The two volumes include sketches of the women at that time famed for wit, beauty, culture and heroism, and should prove of exceeding interest to present-day Colonial Dames and Societies of the Daughters of the American Revolution. JINKS' INSIDE

By Harriet Malone Hobson. 12mo. Cloth. Four-color frontispiece and four other illustrations in two colors, by Florence Scovel Shinn.
$1.00 net; by mail, $1.10

Besides being a most entertaining story for old or young this is a remarkable study of the workings of a child's mind. Jinks is a boy of the gutter, a rough, untutored, tattered lad, but he has an "inside," as he calls it, that compels him to do or not to do certain things and is really exceedingly troublesome. What he suffers for the sake of his "inside" is very pathetic, and we cannot help loving the brave little fellow, who is a real hero at heart.

"'Jinks' is simply irresistible. It is one of the most charming child studies that has ever come into my hands. One page brings laughter, the next tears, and the next one laughter again."

ON THE FUTURE LIFE.

OUR LIFE AFTER DEATH

By Rev. Arthur Chambers. 12mo. Cloth. $1.00 net; by mail, $1.10

The substance of this book is the theory (based on Scriptural authority entirely) of a life in Hades, between the earth life and that of heaven or hell, including belief in the development of the soul in the intermediate life, and teaching that the Gospel is preached there, with the consequent permission of the hope that it is not preached in vain. The treatment is reverent and thoughtful.

Highly commended by Hezekiah Butterworth, Agnes Repplier, Charles W. Chesnutt, Mrs. Mary F. Lovell and others.

We trust that parents who are after books for their children will read this notice. Here is a book that is a fitting companion to "Black Beauty," and "Beautiful Joe." We believe that there are few books that have had so wide or deserved a circulation as these. The germ of all the modern books about animals lies in "Black Beauty," where a horse is made to have feelings and sentiments akin to man. "Pussy Meow" is another classic for children, dealing with the cat. All we have to say is that every child will appreciate it.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A better book could not be placed in the hands of children.—Indianapolis Independent.

YOSHIO MARKINO

The talented Japanese Artist, whose wonderful interpretations of London life and London street scenes have aroused the enthusiasm of the English public, tells the story of his life, of his trials and hardships, of his apparent utter failure and final sweeping success, in a most readable volume—

A Japanese Artist in London

The Chicago Record-Herald calls it:

"A human document prismatic with proudly repressed pathos and quietly sparkling humor."

The Boston Transcript says:

"Few stories in recent literature are so compelling."

The Editor of the London Times pronounces it:

"One of the most affecting documents I have ever read—the record of a brave, clean soul, revealing unconsciously its innocence and sweetness and pluck."

The Chicago Inter-Ocean classifies it as:

"The sort of book with which one is not done after just one reading."

"As clever and original as Alice's Adventures in Wonderland."

"A wonder tale for little people."

The Magical Man of Mirth

For Children of 5 to 10 By ELBRIDGE H. SABIN

Cover picture, seven full-page illustrations in color, and lining paper, by ELENORE PLAISTED ABBOTT and HELEN ALDEN KNIPE.

Square 8vo. Cloth, with picture on cover

"Fortunate the child into whose hands the book may fall."
—Des Moines Capital

"It is simply great. I commenced reading it aloud after supper and when bed-time came, the children absolutely refused to go to bed, in spite of my commands and their mother's coaxing. It is well for the discipline of the family that books of this kind do not often come our way, or we should have a mutiny on our hands. But I must confess that their mother and I were as enthusiastic over the story as were the children."
—An Enthusiastic Reader

"It should keep many an active youngster quiet for many a welcome minute."—Springfield Republican.

"The story is full of wonders and hurries along with that swift succession of thrilling adventures so dear to childhood's heart, yet it is all as pure and sweet as the fair white cloud in which live the Queen of the City of Mirth and her dainty, sparkling little people. It is all as free and exhaustless in interest as the great realms of the ocean through which Dollie and her adventurous band make their tour of exploration."—Eugene Thwing

Nueva edicion, con introducción, notas y glosario.

Por C. CARROLL MARDEN.

282 pages. 8vo. Cloth, $2.50 net; Paper, $2.00.

The critical text of this old Spanish poem is based on the extant manuscripts and the early prose chronicles. In point of historical importance Fernán Gonzáles ranks with the Cid. The heroic character of the poem composed in his honor, the inherent interest of the subject matter, the many early legends which it sets forth, the fact that it is one of the very few extant specimens of early epic poetry—these considerations make the Poema de Fernán Gonzáles one of the most important monuments of Spanish literature.

SPELLING

COMMON WORDS COMMONLY MISSPELLED

By Bruce R. Payne

LAST winter one hundred and six young men tried to pass the entrance examination at West Point.

Seventy-nine failed.

"Applicants for admission to West Point and Annapolis," said President Taft, in an address shortly afterward, "fail in many instances on subjects that every school boy ought to know. They cannot spell, and they are deficient in other rudimentary branches."

We have come to be a nation of bad spellers.

Who is to blame?

President Taft says that the ambition of school superintendents has led us into a lack of thoroughness.

Perhaps.

But is this the real secret?

Is it because we have not placed sufficient emphasis on spelling, or is it because we have placed too much emphasis on the sort of spelling that is not worth while?

How much time is spent in your school teaching pupils how to spell words which they will never have to spell again?

How much time is given to words which they will often have occassion to spell in after life?

Many pupils lack the spelling sense. They will never be good spellers. Why spend so much time trying to develop in them that which they will never have? Why not give them the words they must spell in every-day life and let them learn those "by heart," so they will know how to spell them whether they develop any spelling sense or not?

Dr. Bruce Payne, of the University of Virginia, after fourteen years' experience as a teacher in high schools, colleges and summer schools, became convinced of three things:

First. That spelling is a much more difficult subject than it is usually regarded.

Second. That students of high school training misspell a very large number of common words.

Third. That the study of difficult or unusual words does not necessarily help one in the spelling of common words, and that instead of forcing a student through a list of difficult words rarely used in order that he may find ten such words which he has misspelled, it is far better to find out as nearly as possible what his frequent errors are and restrict his study to overcoming these.

Acting upon these convictions Dr. Payne invited five thousand teachers scattered throughout the Southern States to send him a list of common words commonly misspelled by their students

With these lists before him he selected with infinite pains 2,375 of the most common words most commonly misspelled.

Out of these words he has built a speller—

The most unique,

The most modern,

And, for its particular purpose, certainly the most helpful speller ever produced.

It is a book that will gladden the heart of every teacher in the high school and upper grammar grades, for it is the one book such teachers have been wishing for.

Most spellers are built on a theory.

But in spelling we face a condition, not a theory.

This Speller is built on practice.

It is the result of the daily school-room experiences of thousands of teachers scattered over a wide territory.

WORDS STUDIES By Edwin S. Sheppe

THE purpose of this series of Spellers is (1) to enable the beginner to recognize readily and to pronounce accurately the various word forms found in his reader; (2) to teach the spelling, meaning and use of words necessary for a sound education, and (3) to bridge the gap between the spelling book and the dictionary.

The phonic drill-lists in Section I. are intended primarily to aid the beginner in giving to each letter or combination of letters in a word its proper sound value, and thus to teach him to pronounce words at sight.

A knowledge of the sound-value of each letter, acquired from the phonic drills, will serve to give the child the power to spell, without previous study, the large class of words that are written as they are sounded. As a further aid to the mastery of the strange and devious ways of English orthography, the important law of the association of like with like is utilized by grouping words, as far as possible, according to both regularity and similarity of spelling. The more prolific and typical classes of words in common use are taken up first, then the smaller groups, and finally the phonic outlaws, which are comparatively few in number.

It is interesting to note that homonyms, such as too and two, new and knew, are never given in pairs, but are carefully kept apart. As the author tersely puts it, every homonymous word "should be wedded to its meaning, not to its mate." In all this work the well established principle of learning to know by doing is constantly exemplified.

The numerous exercises in searching for hidden words, in rhyming, in word transformation, in phrase spelling, in careful pronunciation, in word making, in completing sentences, find unity in the common purpose of training the child to examine words letter by letter, to study them in connection with their meaning and use, to observe articulate sounds, and to master inductively the rules governing the spelling of the great class of words that are formed according to fixed principles.

The gap between the ordinary spelling book and the dictionary is an almost insurmountable obstacle to the pupil, even with the help of a good teacher. Most pupils never learn to use a dictionary intelligently; in consulting it, they seldom get either the correct pronunciation of a word or the meaning suited to its use. This new series of Spellers leads up to the Dictionary.

The numerous and varied exercises in syllabication and accent, in dictionary practice, in marking letters diacritically, in the use of index-words and phonic key-words, in making definitions, in discriminating between synonyms, in the study of prefixes, suffixes, and roots, make the pupil understand the use and advantage of a dictionary. The habit of word study thus acquired will grow upon him as he grows older, and will solve the spelling problem in the only way in which it can ever be solved.

Finally, there is not a dull lesson in the series. This is rather an unusual claim to make for a Speller, but then it is an unusual Speller. Perhaps after all this is its strongest point—every lesson is interesting.

The most excellent spelling book I have ever seen. I know of no other book that makes the task of learning to spell a pleasure. But the books are more than good spelling books. They teach correct pronunciation and finally lead up to an intelligent use of the dictionary. The books are full of a great variety of interesting material, and are very carefully graded. I hope they may be as well received as they deserve to be.—Lida B. Mcmurry, DeKalb, Ill.

COMMON SCHOOL SPELLER

By E. C. Branson

THE First Book is made to be used side by side with First and Second Readers as a direct and distinct help to the child in learning to read.

The Second Book meets the needs of the pupils in the Third Fourth and Fifth Reader classes.

The vocabulary includes, first, the vocabulary of the common school text-books; second, the common words in daily use outside of the school-room, especially such as are frequently misspelled or mispronounced. Mere catch-words, difficult to spell and infrequently used, are excluded.

The exercises for dictation, copying, sentence spelling and the like, have an ethical value far beyond that of other spellers, as a casual glance will show. In no other speller will one find so many selections replete with ennobling sentiments.

The systematic reviews of words frequently mispronounced or misspelled will almost inevitably make the faithful pupil a good speller of every-day English

Southern School and Home, Tallahassee, Fla.: "The chief purpose of a speller is really to take the place of a teacher, for every book the child has should be a spelling book, and the reviews should be arranged by the teacher from the words coming within the experience of the child. But such an ideal spelling course will not be attained except where there is an ideal teacher and with only a pupil or two to train. Branson's Speller is the nearest possible approximation to this condition. The words are those every pupil meets with. The arrangement of the lessons affords the advantage of form and sound analogies, and trains the hand and eye, and the tongue and ear in the practical use of English."

MATHEMATICS

SCHOOL ARITHMETIC

By J. M. Colaw, J. K. Ellwood
Frank W. Duke and Jas. K. Powers

THIS series embraces two courses of two and three books respectively.

I

THREE-BOOK COURSE.

Primary Book
Intermediate Book,
Advanced Book.

This is offered as a complete series, comprising all the Arithmetic required from the Primary to the High School, both inclusive.

The Primary Book connects Arithmetic with the child's life and makes it real to him. He is taught to count by counting actual things. He is taught to measure by measuring with a definite end in view. He grasps the true idea of number. All through the Primary Book there is ample provision for hand work, sense work, sense training, imaging and expression. You find at every turn an abundance of concrete work and graphic illustration.

The Intermediate Book furnishes additional work in the elementary operations of Arithmetic. Some teachers favor considerable practice in this line before entering upon the Advanced Book. The Intermediate affords this practice, reviewing and extending the subjects embraced in the Primary without duplicating. It is in harmony with the general plan of the series.

The inductive method of the Primary and Intermediate is continued in the Advanced Book. The pupil is not told anything, that he may be led to discover for himself. You do not see a formal statement brought abruptly forward. Questions and suggestions go before as heralds to prepare the way.

One is gratified to note the ample material for mental discipline provided in the oral exercises, which, by the way, put the strain on the reasoning faculity, where it ought to be, and not on the memory, where it ought not to be.

One of the most valuable features of the Advanced Book is the chapter on equations, which forms the basis of the treatment of percentage, profit and loss, and allied subjects. As every one knows, in the treatment of these subjects authors have usually assumed the truth of certain things from algebra and geometry in order to secure a basis for their treatment. In this book the basis is the equation in which letters are used to represent any concrete number. One notes with pleasure that the Advanced Book is in accord with the report of the Committee of Fifteen, though some subjects which the committee thought should be omitted from arithmetic are placed in the appendix, where they are as carefully treated as if they were an integral part of the book.

The Advanced Book is an adequate substitute for three books—a grammar school arithmetic, a high school arithmetic, and an elementary algebra. Advanced classes are provided for in the body of the book as well as in the appendix. The introduction to algebra at the end will readily take the place of an elementary algebra. The fundamental algebraic processes are clearly treated in accordance with the most approved methods.

Logical minds will note with pleasure the orderly arrangement of subjects. For instance, common fractions are treated after decimal fractions because the former are more difficult, while the treatment of United States money precedes that of decimal fractions because it serves as an easy introduction to that subject.

Taken altogether, this comes wonderfully near one's idea of an ideal and complete series.

II.

TWO-BOOK COURSE.

Elementary Book.
Practical Book.

This is offered as a Common School Course, intended to fit pupils for the High School or for the affairs of life.

The Elementary Book is for the use of the pupil after he has learned to read and after some drilling and oral instruction in the simplest numerical processes have been given him.

The first part of the text may be used by the teacher as suggestive of the oral work given to beginners. The instruction may then be repeated in a more formal way when the pupil has the book in his own hands.

The course proceeds by carefully graded steps to inculcate those principles so necessary to a beginner in order that he may in later years acquire the habit of thinking in number. Numerous examples are given, the subject matter of which is within the range of the experience of the child, and yet there is a sufficient variety of subjects used to stimulate his interest. Incidentally, many important facts are introduced wherever the number idea is paramount.

Pedagogically the best modern system is followed. The concreteness of development is amplified by pictures which aptly illustrate important principles.

The entire matter of the book is new, and the arrangement is such as to lead the pupil naturally and easily to a comprehension of integers and easy fractions added, subtracted, multiplied and divided.

The subject of decimals is introduced by means of the United States decimal system of currency.

The Practical Book follows the work of the Elementary along logical and useful lines. It embraces all the subjects that properly belong in a book of its scope, so treated as to attract and hold the interest of the pupils. Every subject is so presented as to be readily mastered by pupils of the age and grade for which it is intended. This will greatly facilitate the work of the teacher.

The fundamental operations are reviewed in such a manner as to assure a good working knowledge of them before entering upon higher work, and to set forth strikingly the advantages of a uniform scale as found in the decimal system.

A chapter on Short Methods has many features that will prove helpful in computation. The equation is introduced and utilized in the solution of problems. It is treated in such a way as to be within the reach of those who have never studied Algebra, while laying a foundation for the subject. Technicalities are avoided. A distinguished educator, after examining this part of the book, said that he was gratified at finding such a clear presentation of the equation without the introduction of such expressions as "terms," "members," "axioms," "transposing," etc.

Related Problems cover a wide range of useful information on live subjects while furnishing excellent arithmetical drill.

Ratio and Proportion are so treated as to take away their sting, and to supply pupils with a valuable approach in the solution of problems.

The solutions throughout the book are models of cleverness and suggestiveness. By the time the latter part of the book is reached the pupil has at his disposal many "lines of approach" in the solution of problems that may come to him in after life.

The book contains a very large number of problems, for the most part fresh from the mint.

ELEMENTARY ALGEBRA

By J. M. Colaw and J. K. Powers

IN the preparation of this text the aim has been to adapt elementary algebra to the practical needs of high school pupils. In all essential particulars it conforms to the most recent courses of study, and embodies the saner views expressed in the recent reports and syllabi of mathematical societies and associations.

The method of presentation is inductive. By basing the treatment on the pupil's knowledge of elementary arithmetic, algebra is presented as a continuation and extension of that subject. In passing to new ideas, numerical illustrations are freely used, and abundant concrete material has been introduced to make the subject easily and clearly understood.

In addition to the inductive exercises intended to lead up to principles and processes, many oral examples have been included in the exercises and numerous pointed questions have been placed in the reviews for the purpose of fixing definitions, principles, and processes in the pupil's mind. The frequent "review exercises" serve to impress and render familiar the more essential facts of elementary algebra.

Throughout the treatment the author has kept constantly in mind that the purpose of the study of algebra, as of arithmetic, is a disciplinary means to a practical end. Hence, the author has not overlooked its value as a means of cultivating the reasoning faculty of the pupil; at the same time he fully recognizes the utility of the subject and aims to present it in relation to its practical uses in real life. To this end, while not sacrificing such of the commonly accepted problems as teach directly the features of equations, many real applied problems, drawn from physics, geometry, commerce, and the various phases of everyday life, have been introduced, together with many interesting problems that are solved by substitution in formulæ. In the selection of applied problems, care has been taken to include only those that have some interest to the majority of the pupils in the class and that do not involve technicalities requiring too much explanation to make them understood.

The arrangement is such that no difficult phases are encountered in the first year, and only essentials are emphasized. Throughout the book the subject-matter is kept well within the comprehension of the average high school pupil. The problem work begins early and is distributed at frequent intervals so as to prevent interest from tiring by reason of long stretches of merely technical work. Theoretical material is reduced to a minimum; complicated and impracticable examples and problems are avoided.

To meet the requirements of the maximum courses of study, certain topics under the heading "Supplementary Work" have been retained.

Early and frequent use is made of graphical methods. By avoiding technical terms, the treatment is simply and clearly presented.

It is believed that the number and variety of the exercises, the abundance and practical character of the problems, and the careful grading of both will commend the book to progressive teachers.

Cloth; 368 pages; price, 90 cents.
Half Leather; 368 pages; price, $1.00.

MANUAL OF ELEMENTARY ALGEBRA

By J. M. Colaw

THIS book contains the solutions of the more difficult problems in the Elementary Algebra. For the use of teachers only.

Cloth; $1.00.

SCHOOL ALGEBRA

By John M. Colaw and J. K. Ellwood

IN this book will be found many of the excellent features which have made the Colaw and Ellwood Arithmetics so popular with progressive teachers. The method used in presenting subjects is inductive. The examples and problems are abundant and of the most satisfactory type. They are divided into two groups, the second group being designed for advanced pupils.

In the presentation of principles and the solution of problems the strictest attention has been given to mathematical form and accuracy. The several topics are treated more clearly and fully than in most texts, but in no case is the treatment verbose.

In accordance with the latest report of the Mathematical Association of Great Britain the authors have seen fit to make several departures from the stereotyped presentation of algebra. For example, the treatment of Graphs has been placed in the body of the book—under Simple Equations and also under Indeterminate Equations.

Cloth; 434 pages; price, $1.15.

READING

GRADED CLASSICS

By F. T. Norvell and M. W. Haliburton

THE remarkable popularity of this series of Readers is apparently due to the fact that it teaches the child to read in a way that develops in him a love for reading. Everything is made to bend to this end. It is for this reason that the First Reader has been made the easiest of all the readers that have been made. In its 143 pages of reading one will find but 493 different words. In no other book, we believe, will be found so few words doing service over so great a space. Moreover, all this space is filled with genuine reading matter. There is no padding.

The book was built in full view of the school-room. Every sentence was tested in the light of experience. All the features of the "word" and so-called "sentence" methods that have been retained have been retained because they have proved themselves worthy to live. It is a survival of the fittest. These features are supplemented by careful phonic drills. Notice these drills: you will see no diacritics. Notice them again: they are not the words which the pupil has already learned; they are words which he will soon have use for in his reading.

The action sentences and their arrangement are especially pleasing. These sentences wonderfully quicken the child's interest in reading, and wonderfully aid him in grasping the thought of what he is reading.

All the selections are within easy grasp of the child-mind. This does not mean simply that the words are within the child's range, but that the ideas are within his range also. The authors have remembered what so many makers of readers have forgotten, that a story may be written in words of one syllable and yet be utterly incomprehensible to a child.

The book is rapidly progressive. At first glance one will be apt to say that it moves too rapidly. A well-known educator, on picking up the book for the first time, turned at once to the pages in the back of the book, and after a moment said: "This will not do. A child is not ready to read such stories at the end of a First Reader." Then he turned back to the beginning and went through it page by page. "It's wonderful!" he exclaimed at the end. "It shall go into my schools." And it went. He found that the grading is so perfect that when the child gets to the stories he is ready for them: he already knows the words that are used in them.

The pictures—of which there are many beautiful ones in colors as well as in black and white—admirably serve the two-fold purpose of illuminating the text and awakening an interest in art. The teacher will be particularly pleased with the plan of illustrating the text very freely in Part I., and less freely in Part II. This plan not only gives more room for reading matter in the latter part of the book, but it throws the child more on his own resources as he goes along. It is refreshing to see that the illustrations are not allowed to break up the text to the confusion of the child. The editor rather than the printer has had his way, and clearness is not sacrificed to the mysteries of mechanical make-up.

The Second Reader is composed entirely of classics. There is no made-to-order nature talk, but what is far better, there are opportunities along the way for talks about nature from the teacher himself. It is not a book of botany or zoology; it is a book of literature; and nature talks, such as disfigure many readers, are not literature.

The grading in this reader is as accurate as in the first book. No lesson contains more than eight new words. The 493 words used in the First Reader are placed in the beginning of the Second, thus giving the teacher an opportunity to review the First before entering upon the Second.

It delights the eye all the way through this book to see nothing but literature. One will notice a gradual change in the character of the stories as one turns the pages. At the beginning they are imaginative; farther on they grow more probable and true. There is, too, a happy grouping of related subjects. The child's interest reaches its height in the thirty-five or forty pages at the end which tell of child-life among the different races. There is a description of the child-life of a race, and then one or two favorite stories of the children of that race.

One closes the book thinking of the remarkable richness and variety of the feast it spreads. There are selections from the French, German, Norse, Japanese, Hawaiian, Old English, Norwegian, Indian, and one knows not how many more.

The Third Reader has 695 new words and fifteen prose and fifteen poetical selections. The accurate grading of the first two books is continued in this Reader. No lesson contains more than ten new words, the average being eight.

The subject matter has been chosen with unusual care. Child-life is the prevailing keynote. While nature-study lessons as such have been excluded, it will be found that a great deal of the subject matter opens up a tempting path to nature work.

The child who studies this Reader will hardly realize that it is a text-book. Seat work, such exercises as "Use these words in sentences," quotations incomprehensible to the child-mind, definitions, and all such useless padding, have been omitted; and even the lists of new words have been relegated to the back of the book.

In the choice of illustrations the authors have shown an intimate knowledge of child-nature. Every picture in the book appeals to the child's sense of art and quickens his interest. Especially valuable are the marginal illustrations which happily take the place of the bewildering definitions which usually accompany the unfamiliar words of the text.

As for the Fourth and Fifth Readers—well, we do not believe that there is anything—in Readers—more thoroughly satisfying than these golden sheaves of complete, exquisitely illustrated stories gathered from the whole field of classical literature. For the convenience of graded schools the Fifth Reader is also issued in parts, all of which are beautifully illustrated.

THE JOHNSON READERS

Revised by E. C. Branson

THE Johnson Readers contain the best literature. There isn't a trashy lesson in these Readers. There isn't a line to awaken a vile appetite. There isn't a hint of the impure and vicious. There is no belittling of anything that is noble. There is nothing sacriligious or untruthful in them. There is no pretty writing of doubtful tendencies. There is nothing but the best in them.

The Johnson Readers are well graded. There are no ditches to jump. There are no lessons "too hard," followed by lessons "too easy." Lessons of the same grade are not piled one on the other to call a halt. From start to finish the way is smooth and easy.

Oswald Garrett, Superintendent Schools, East Bernard, Tex.: "I have been making some comparative studies. The Johnson Readers give me some things that I have long needed, but have been unable to get in other books. MOSES' PRIMER (Revised)

By Edward P. Moses

THE remarkable results obtained in teaching children to read by what is known as the "Moses method" have created a demand for a primer by the author of this method—E. P. Moses, formerly Superintendent of the Raleigh, N. C., schools. The purpose of this primer is to afford an introduction to the forms of about three hundred words with whose meaning children of the primer age are already familiar. As the author says in his preface: "The main work of the teacher of the primary school, during the first school year at least, should be to teach the symbols for what the children have been acquiring during the four years preceding their entrance into the school."

Boards; price, 20 cents.

CARNEFIX PRIMER

By Frances D. Carnefix

THE Carnefix Primer begins at the beginning. The first lesson introduces a and no other word. A dozen a's and a dozen objects.

It is perfectly graded to the end. At the end of one lesson the child is ready for the next.

It is objective. Instead of a WORD, A PICTURE. A picture that suggests the word it represents, and no other.

It introduces only ninety words. The ninety words a child needs to know before he enters his First Reader.

There is a Phonic Chart at the end.

May be used either with or without the Carnefix Practical Sight-Word Reading Chart and Phonic Exercise.

Price, paper, 5 cents; boards, 10 cents.

SUPPLEMENTARY READING

LIFE OF WASHINGTON

By Mrs. M. L. Williamson

AS the author reminds us in her preface, although more than a century has passed since the death of Washington, his name is still the most illustrious upon the pages of American history. Living during a period of expansion and changes, as ambassador, statesman, captain-general and president, he served his country long and faithfully. Inasmuch as the question of expansion is again rife, and the conditions of our government are changing, it is well to review his life and character, and to place them anew before the youth of our country.

For the Fifth Grade. Cloth; 212 pages; 40 cents.

LIFE OF GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE

By Mrs. M. L. Williamson

THE story of a beautiful life beautifuly told. As Mrs. Williamson asks in her preface, "While teaching pupils to read, why not fix in their minds the names and deeds of our great men, thereby laying the foundation of historical knowledge and instilling true patriotism into their youthful souls?" And as she adds, "In looking over the lives of our American heroes we find not one which presents such a picture of moral grandeur as that of Lee. Place this picture before the little ones, and you cannot fail to make them look upward to noble ideals."

ART EDUCATION, New York: * * * "The life of no hero of arms in all the history of the world, perhaps, contains so many lessons of the purest, truest, noblest manhood as does the life history of General R. E. Lee, and every child, North or South, will become a better man or woman by studying Lee's character. * * * Mrs. Williamson's little book is intensely interesting, and would be an excellent thing in the hands of a teacher from which to draw illustrations for teaching the nobility of the highest type of Christian character."

For the Third Grade. Fully illustrated; 183 pages; price, boards, 25 cents; cloth, 35 cents.

LIFE OF
GENERAL THOMAS J. JACKSON

By Mrs. M. L. Williamson

IN words which little children will quickly comprehend, Mrs. Williamson presents a most striking portrait of perhaps the most striking figure in the military annals of modern times. She is especially happy in her effort to portray "amid the blaze of his matchless military genius, the unchanging rectitude of his conduct, the stern will-power by which he conquered all difficulties, his firm belief in an over-ruling Providence, and his entire submission to the Divine will. These traits of character were the corner-stone upon which he reared the edifice of his greatness, and upon which the young people of our day will do well to build."

S. H. Stout, A. M., M. D., LL. D., Dallas, Tex.: "I have carefully and critically read Mrs. Mary L. Williamson's Life of Robert E. Lee and Life of T. J. Jackson for the young. I am delighted with them. They ought to be universally adopted as supplementary reading matter for the use of pupils in the third and fourth grades of our public schools. The author is forcible and truthful in her statements of facts, and her style is fascinating to youthful minds."

For the Fourth and Fifth Grades. Fully illustrated; 248 pages; price, boards, 30 cents; cloth, 40 cents.

STORIES OF BIRD LIFE By T. Gilbert Pearson

"MY children," writes Dr. Egbert W. Smith, "are captivated with Mr. Pearson's book. I am not surprised. A more wholesome and fascinating volume for young and old I have rarely seen. It is as interesting as a novel and as instructive as a text-book. My only regret is that this book was not in my hands when I was a boy. The style of the book is admirable. Clear and limpid as a mountain brook, it is brightened throughout with gleams of quiet humor that seem a reflection of nature's own sunshine. There are twenty chapters, all beautifully illustrated. It is hard to tell which is the best, all are so full of entertainment and instruction."

For the Fifth and Sixth Grades. Fully illustrated; colored frontispiece. Cloth; 236 pages; price, 60 cents.

NORTH CAROLINA HISTORY STORIES By W. C. Allen

A SERIES of delightful sketches in simple language suitable for the Fourth and Fifth Reader grades. The stories begin with the landing of the first English people, and present the salient features of North Carolina's history from this point down through the Revolution. These sketches have a local flavor and coloring not to be found in a primary history. The inner life of the people is interwoven with their struggles for liberty.

There are forty-five stories in five books—nine to a book.

Cloth; price, 50 cents; in five parts, paper covers, 10 cents each.

TENNESSEE HISTORY STORIES By T. C. Karns

IN the preparation of this book the aim has been to give to the children of Tennessee such an insight into the history of their State as will awaken in them a desire for more, and cultivate in them a taste for historical reading and research. As the author well says, no State has a history of more absorbing interest than Tennessee. "Her people were among the first pioneer settlers west of the Alleghanies. Her sons struck a decisive blow for American liberty at King's Mountain. She was one of the first three States added to the Union. Her early situation west of the mountains gave her a unique relation to the rest of the country. Moreover, she has always played a prominent part in the affairs of the nation, and her soldiers and statesmen have been among its leaders."

Designed for supplementary reading in the third and fourth grades.

Cloth; illustrated; price, 50 cents.

TEXAS HISTORY STORIES By E. G. Littlejohn

WITHOUT attempting to present a connected narrative of events, the author has depicted the lives of the leading characters of the Lone Star State in a manner at once graphic and beautiful.

The salient features of the era of exploration are grouped about the adventurer, Cabeza de Vaca.

The incidents of the short day in which the "lilies of France" waved over the colony are made to live in the life of the chivalrous and courteous La Salle.

The Alamo, San Jacinto, and Goliad, and the heroic deeds which resulted in the establishment of the Republic, become part and parcel of the lives of Houston, Austin, and David Crockett; while the glorious part which Texas played under the "Stars and Bars" is immortalized with the name Dick Dowling.

For the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Grades. Illustrated; price, cloth, 50 cents; in five parts, paper covers, 10 cents each.

SOLIDIER LIFE IN THE ARMY OF NORTHERN VIRGINIA (Revised)

By Carlton McCarthy

HISTORIANS deal with public men and public events. Carlton McCarthy deals with the private soldier in his everyday life. He tells what the historian has left untold, and it is the most interesting part of the story. There's nothing like it—nothing save the fireside talks with which our soldier boys once charmed our nights. And this is really what this book is—the fireside talks of one of the most charming of talkers. Few men can tell a war story so well.

None can better describe the minute details of a soldier's everyday life, for he was one of them, a boy private in that ragged band of heroes who followed Lee.

For the Fifth Grade. Illustrated; 225 pages; price, 50 cents.

FIFTY FAMOUS FABLES

By Lida B. McMurry

THE fifty fables in this book have been selected for second grade reading because they are easily comprehended by pupils of that grade and because they teach lessons which every child should learn.

It is not wise to tell the class the moral application of the fables. It is better to have each pupil make his own application without any suggestion from the teacher.

In adapting the stories the conversational form has been largely used; this form not only gives much pleasure to the children, but it also affords excellent opportunities for voice culture.

Most of the stories have been successfully used for several years with classes of children in the State Normal School at DeKalb.

Cloth; price, 30 cents.

PENMANSHIP

SMITHDEAL'S SLANT WRITING BOOKS

By G. M. Smithdeal

BOOK 1 contains the small and capital letters and the figures. The main features of this book are word building, the placing of small letters and their corresponding capitals in juxtaposition, and the introduction of the simplest punctuation marks.

In Book 2 short sentences are used with the simplest punctuation marks. The four arithmetical signs appear in this book.

The copies in Book 3 are interesting historical statements and simple business sentences. There are additional punctuation marks.

Book 4 contains a collection of choice one and two-line quotations from standard authors.

Book 5 contains "Dictation Exercises," treating of interesting persons and events, and a series of social forms, including letters, formal and informal notes, etc.

Book 6 contains business forms in general use, including notes, drafts, checks, telegrams, advertisements, etc.

Great care has been exercised in selecting styles of letters. For example, in most copybooks the standard capitals A and H require lifting the pen from the paper and starting again, twice in the construction of each letter. In the Smithdeal Copybooks these forms are made without lifting the pen at all.

The slant of writing in these books has been reduced from 52 to 45 degrees.

Six numbers. Price, 5 cents each.

ENGLISH

OUR LANGUAGE

By C. Alphonso Smith
Lida B. McMurry and F. T. Norvell

IN the preparation of this series it has been the aim of the authors (1) to interest the pupil by novel but vital illustrations, (2) to make him feel a pride in using good English, (3) to eliminate the dry-as-dust exercises that have so long been in vogue, and (4) to make the knowledge of the English language go hand in hand with the appreciation of English literature.

I. LANGUAGE LESSONS

By Lida B. McMurry

THE keynote of this book is its treatment of the paragraph. What is a paragraph? Ask the average pupil of the sixth grade and he cannot tell you. He cannot tell you for the simple reason that his language books have not told him. They have practically ignored the subject. If the unit of thought is the paragraph—thus the authors seem to have reasoned—then the pupil ought to get a clear idea of what constitutes a paragraph just as soon as possible. The subject is therefore introduced at the first practicable moment—in the treatment of letter-writing, the first form of composition taken up.

The treatment of the paragraph forms the backbone of the book from letter-writing to the end. The idea is developed gradually by means of stories in outline, unfinished stories, suggestive pictures, series of related pictures, outlines of letters, suggestions for descriptions, etc. As a rule, the thought is given so that the pupil may devote himself entirely to the form of expression. He is not required to rack his brain for an idea, and then devote his fagged energies to working it out.

The authors have been especially happy in the treatment of inaccuracies of speech. Twelve common errors are brought forward and dealt with in a way that is decidedly refreshing, if not unique. There's a delightful sensation in watching the correct phrase loom up to take the place of the incorrect. Whether one agrees with the authors in all things or not, one cannot lay down the volume without feeling that here is something far beyond the ordinary.

And then there are the pictures—the wonderful story-telling pictures! Where will one find anything—in pictures—so charming to the children, so helpful and satisfying to the teacher?

"When a book appears bearing the name of Mrs. McMurry on the title page, every teacher should know it is not to be passed over lightly. This author's books are so full of the schoolroom atmosphere that one can almost see the children at work. This book is a step by step process in teaching our language to the youngest children. And so clear and logical is every progressive step that the primary teacher has only to follow it to bring her children to a point of excellence in this branch rarely attained even in the higher grades. The emphasis on the paragraph, that stumbling block to teachers themselves, is particularly valuable. The letter writing, punctuation, correction of the common errors in children's speech are all worth the study of everybody who is trying to teach the English language. The pages are not overloaded with cheap pictures, but every one means something to arouse the interest of the child and make him want to talk. 'Playing Doctor,' 'The Arab and His Horse,' and 'Great Expectations' are beautiful full-page color pictures not often found in ordinary text-books. The 'Suggestions for Teachers' at the end of the book are timely, and sympathetic in tone, as one teacher talks with another."—PRIMARY EDUCATION, BOXTON, MASS.

Cloth; 204 pages; four full-page pictures in colors; numerous pictures in black and white; price, 40 cents.

II. LANGUAGE LESSONS AND GRAMMAR

By C. Alphonso Smith

EVERY line of this book has been dictated by experience in the schoolroom, by long study of language problems, and by the desire to adapt all the material used to the needs and limitations of the pupils. To this end explanations are first given of each principle presented, and these are followed successively by apt illustrations, compact definitions, and practical exercises. Exercises in language alternate with simple interpretations of literature, the author believing that it is the duty of a book of this sort to attract the pupil to good literature as well as to drill him in correct language.

The book is divided into two parts, each part having a certain unity in itself, the two parts making a larger and more complete unity. In Part I. there is an elementary treatment of the parts of speech, interspersed with exercises in sentence structure, with familiar quotations from the Bible and Shakespeare, with remarks on big and little words, with an exposition of the fundamentals of spelling and punctuation, with pointed anecdotes to be retold, and with many selections from masterpieces of prose and verse.

Part II. begins with the paragraph. This is followed by letter-writing, many letters of famous men to children being given. Sentences and parts of speech are treated with more detail and completeness than in Part I., but there is no repetition and no suggestion of fragmentariness in the treatment of either Part I. or Part II. As in Part I., there is a constant appeal to the pupil's originality and to his power of imagination, the author realizing that no two pupils are alike, and that no exercises should be chosen that do not minister to the diverse needs of different individualities.

Cloth; 240 pages; price, 45 cents.

III. GRAMMAR

By C. Alphonso Smith

THIS book has been prepared, not for the linguist, to whom grammar is a science, but for the child, to whom it should be simply the means of teaching him how to express his thoughts clearly and correctly.

The plan of the book is in accordance with the most approved methods of presenting English Grammar. There are two general divisions, (I) The Sentence and (II) The Parts of Speech.

The text opens with a brief treatment of the paragraph as a unit of thought. The sentence is then taken up and treated at length. Following this comes a discussion of clauses, phrases and words in the order named.

The book is intended for the upper grades of the grammar school.

Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, President University of Virginia:

"It gives me very sincere pleasure to bear hearty testimony to the efficiency and teachableness and attractiveness of this book as a text-book for the rational study of the English language. I have seen nothing better in the twenty years that I have given thought to school and college text-books. I believe that the return to the rational study of the English language is a good thing, just as I believe the revolt against the study of grammar was a good thing twenty years ago. That revolt has made possible such a splendid book as Professor Smith's. I wish for it great success."

Cloth; 263 pages; price, 50 cents.

HISTORY

HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

By Susan Pendleton Lee

LEE'S Histories of the United States not only give the facts, but they give them with painstaking accuracy. They are practicable. They can be taught. It is easy to teach them. It is a pleasure to teach them.

They are written to be taught. They were written by a teacher who knows how to teach and who knows the needs of teachers as well as of pupils. They have been revised not only with a view to securing accuracy, but to make them of the highest possible value in the schoolroom. They have been ground and polished until they fit into the work of the schoolroom as an ivory ball fits in its socket.

While the warp is the same in both books, the woof is different. Points briefly treated in one book are expanded in the other. For instance, in the Primary Book the War Between the States is very briefly given, while in the New School History it receives comprehensive treatment.

Lee's New School History is arranged to meet the needs of the grammar grades of our public schools. In the revised edition the history has been brought down to date.

There is an abundant supply of maps and helpful illustrations.

Robert S. Ballon, Centreville, Tenn.: "As a teacher of twenty-four years' experience, and as one who has served as County Superintendent over one-half of that time, I am ready to say that I do not wish to exchange Lee's New School History for any I have examined."

H. C. Gilbert, Superintendent of Public Schools, Florence, Ala.: "We have been using Lee's New School History of the United States in the seventh grade of our schools during the past session, and both the teacher and the pupils were delighted with it. It is an admirable work, beautifully illustrated, and strongly and attractively bound. We like the clear, bright and charming way the author has of 'talking' about great men and great events. We are pleased with the topical arrangement of the book, with the analyses, search questions and frequent maps, thereby linking, very properly, geography and history."

New Primary; illustrated; 238 pages; cloth; price, 50 cents. New School; illustrated; 422 pages; cloth; price, 75 cents. Half Morocco, 85 cents, Advanced; 618 pages; half morocco; price, $1.00.

HALF HOURS IN SOUTHERN HISTORY

By Jno. Lesslie Hall

THIS is the most interesting, if not the most important, book on the South that has appeared within a decade. It is more interesting than the Clansman, for it holds you with its facts as closely as Mr. Dixon holds you with his fiction. It stirs your blood, but it does not stir up bad blood.

Dr. Hall was born too late to inherit the bitterness of the war, and too early to grow up without the smell of Southern fire upon his garments. He feels deeply, and he says what he feels straight from the shoulder; but he is too much of a gentleman to rub his fist under your nose, and as you read you are moved to honor him for his convictions, rather than combat his conclusions.

To the Southerner this book will come as a trumpet blast on a clear, frosty morning. To the Northerner it will come as an interesting revelation of how a Southerner of to-day—not of yesterday or of to-morrow—a Southerner of the highest intellectual and social type, thinks and feels about the South, and about the Union, of which, as Dr. Hall reminds us, the South was the chief architect.

"No book could be more welcome or of greater service. The method of treatment is fascinating. It is the modern paragrapher's ideal in that each special subject—about 220—is put with all the glow of the essayist. It is a book that will be read by all Southern students and scholars, and it should be read as universally in the North. It would do us all good."—BOSTON JOURNAL OF EDUCATION.

"His pictures of Southern civilization before and since the civil war are drawn by an artistic hand and a spirit of kindly charity pervades the volume."—Boston Globe.

"Dr. Hall has done a work that ought to have been done, and we cordially commend his book to all who wish the young of our land to grow up with fair and honest and just views, and with an accurate and intelligent knowledge of history."—Southern Churchman.

"I cordially recommend the book."—General Stephen D. Lee.

POETS OF VIRGINIA By F. V. N. Painter

This volume will be welcomed by students and lovers of literature, not only because it is the first comprehensive study of the Virginia poets, and the first anthology of Virginia poetry, but also because it is an important contribution to the culture-history of the Virginia people, and an invaluable source book.

In his treatment the author has followed a chronological order which has been fixed by the date of publication of the successive volumes of verse. Upon the whole this has seemed the most satisfactory arrangement, though in several cases of posthumous publications it has seemed best to transfer the poet from his proper place. The facts presented in the introduction to each period throws much light on the distinctive character of the poetry of this period.

CIVICS

THE FEDERAL UNION AND MISSISSIPPI

By A. H. Ellett

THE plan of this book has been tested in the author's classes for more than ten years and excellent results have been accomplished by its use.

The outlines at the beginnings of the chapters, if brought together, would constitute one complete outline of the entire subject. This outline was first prepared; then the subject-matter of the text was made to conform to it. In preparing the outline, the author has endeavored to make it not only logical but also complete; in writing the text, he has striven to tell the truth and to tell it in a plain way.

Cloth; 286 pages; price, 60 cents.

CIVIL GOVERNMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA AND THE UNITED STATES

By W. J. Peele

THE purpose of this book, as stated by the author, is "to prepare children for the duties of citizenship in North Carolina." To understand these duties one must have a knowledge of the laws and institutions, State and National, by and under which the rights and liberties of citizens are defined and maintained. The essential facts and principles of government and of the constitutional rights and duties of citizens are presented in this volume concisely, logically, and with admirable diction. The treatment can hardly fail to satisfy the most exacting teacher of civil government. One notices with pleasure the careful citation of authorities throughout.

Part I. gives an historical sketch of the formation of the government of North Carolina and of the United States, and then compares and contrasts the two constitutions in outline and shows how they were amended into their present forms.

In Part II. the State and National governments are treated separately. In this part the author considers the operation of government, State and Federal, in its several departments, together with their structure and organization, in detail; defines its powers and describes the offices by which they are applied, executed, and restrained; and gives a brief discussion of the aids and institutions of government, of State and Federal relations, and of interstate relations.

Part III. treats of the duties, qualifications, rights, and privileges of the citizen, the constitutional safeguards by which he is protected, and the remedies for the wrongs done to him and to his government.

AGRICULTURE

By A. M. Soule and E. H. L. Turpin

A COMMON SCHOOL text-book which aims to bring the child in contact with nature, to have him see for himself how crop plants live and develop under various conditions, and to learn by observation and by simple experiment the relation of the soil and its elements to crop growing.

After the essential facts about the soil and the plant are given, the subject of soil improvement is taken up, and tillage, crop rotation, legumes, manure, and commercial fertilizers are discussed. The clear, full treatment of this subject makes the book especially valuable in every section where is a "run down" farm and a boy who is some day to be a farmer. There is a chapter on Field, Orchard, and Garden Crops, and one on Farm Animals. Under the subject of "Crop Enemies and Friends" weeds and harmful fungi and insects, and methods of controlling them are discussed. There are sections about good roads, farm tools, trees, and school gardens.

In the Appendix are useful tables and suggestions for work on special subjects which may be desired in certain sections and grades.

The book is profusely illustrated with pictures which really illustrate and explain the text.

Cloth; 320 pages; price, 75 cents.

TREES AND HOW TO KNOW THEM

By W. A. Lambeth

THIS is a manual with analytical dichotomous keys of the principal forest trees of the South.

Many years in the practical study of trees, together with an effort to instruct others, have led the author to use the keys here offered. They have grown from a few pencil notes, relative to the trees in the grounds of the University of Virginia and vicinity, to a more comprehensive tabulation of the important trees of the Southern States. To be sure they do not include all the trees of this territory, for that would make them so cumbersome as to threaten their practical use. On the other hand, they include many trees which are not indigenous to the territory.

Both keys place the emphasis upon the leaves rather than upon the flowers. This method has been followed because of the fact that leaf-characters are more easily mastered by the beginner; their distinguishing features are complex, to be sure, but such complexity does not approach the many difficulties which are offered by a method based upon the flowers. Moreover, many of the public schools are not yet equipped with laboratories, without which it would be impracticable to depend upon a flower key. Another, and the paramount reason, is that each key is intended to be practical, and to be used in the field where the observations, when made, are of the character that makes for real knowledge, stimulates the young mind, and gives encouragement and confidence to those who would further undertake the study of nature.

Price, 60 cents.

THE EDUCATION OF TEACHERS

By W. H. Payne

DR. PAYNE is a man with a message—the sort of message that compels attention. One must hear him through, though one may not agree with him all the way through, He goes to the very core of the matter, and, having found it, talks with us about it face to face, as a man speaketh unto his friend. There are eight wonderfully stimulating chapters, every one of which one will want to read over and over again.

KINDERGARTEN REVIEW, Springfield, Mass.: "Many writers have discussed the subjects treated here, but not many have presented them with equal readableness and force or kept so persistently on a lofty plane."

Cloth; gilt top; uncut edges; 272 pages; price, $1.50.

A unique system by which, after learning the alphabet, the student can pronounce correctly every word in the Spanish language.

A book that positively teaches how to speak Spanish without the aid of a tutor.

It is not a Dictionary, but a common sense system of learning Spanish.

THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES

Edited by GEORGE MORRIS PIERSOL, M. D.

Of the Medical Department, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

MONTHLY. ILLUSTRATED. 1920 PAGES YEARLY. PRICE, FIVE DOLLARS.

THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF THE MEDICAL SCIENCES, founded in 1820, has long been recognized not only as The American Journal, but also as the leading medical journal of the English-speaking people. From the time of its foundation it has sought the epoch-making papers, and becoming recognized as their medium, it has, in turn, been sought by those who have had discoveries or real advances to announce.

The American Journal is continuing the development of the plan adopted during the last several years and much commended, namely, the publication of a series of Special Original Articles prepared by pre-arrangement by eminent teachers and practitioners on topics of present-day interest and practical importance. In addition, of course, it publishes a large number of original articles selected by the editor from among those offered by leaders of the profession.

The Department of Book Reviews continues to comprise critical and discriminating reviews of important new books, as well as briefer notices of books of less importance and of new editions. The free and impartial comment, the discriminating criticism, and the literary ability displayed by the corps of reviewers, who are selected on account of their special knowledge of the subjects on which they write, have won for this department a position second to none—in any language.

The Department of Progress of Medical Science, under the charge of trained and recognized specialists, continues to summarize the actual advances in the art and science of medicine that are published in the leading medical periodicals of the world.

Thus, The American Journal offers its readers: (1) The new thought and experience of leaders in the profession; (2) a discriminating estimate of the value of important new books; and (3) the pith of actual advances from the best medical periodicals of the world. These are the three elements necessary to a complete and satisfactory medical magazine.

PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE

TWELFTH YEAR, 1911

A Quarterly Digest of Advances, Discoveries and Improvements in all the Practical Branches of Medicine and Surgery

Edited by HOBART AMORY HARE, M.D.

Professor of Therapeutics, Jefferson Medical College, Phila., Physician to the Jefferson Hospital, etc.

Published in March, June, September and December.

PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE performs for the general practitioner, the surgeon and the specialist a most important service, bringing him knowledge which he could not otherwise obtain, either by his own efforts or in any other publication.

Most of the advances in medicine are first announced in periodicals, as the quickest means of publicity. Many of them would therefore be lost to the man who does not read several foreign languages. Herein lies the value of PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE. In its pages are found the advances announced in the leading medical journals of the world, costing one hundred times as much. Apart from the question of language, no practitioner could find the time to read even a small fraction of this vast mass.

PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE presents this information in epitome, and, in a logical narrative form, an original and connected statement of the real advances in all the practical branches. The authorities constituting its staff of contributors are actively engaged in practical work and embody the results of their own knowledge and experience.

Thus, the reader of PROGRESSIVE MEDICINE obtains the practical new ideas and advances of the whole world, presented in a form for immediate assimilation and use. Taken from year to year, it furnishes a connected and complete library of medical advance, carefully indexed for quick reference.
